Leadership Ballot Requested

VANCOUVER (CP) — The youth wing of the Progressive Conservative Party has asked that John Diefenbaker's leadership be put to a secret vote at the party's next convention.

Carl Mooers, national president of the 14,000-member Young Conservative movement, said here Thursday that his group has submitted its demand for the secret ballot to the party's senior council.

"It is well known there are factions within the party that oppose Mr. Diefenbaker's leadership," Mr. Mooers said. "The only way to clear the air and achieve unity is to allow the party membership express their wishes in a secret vote."

John D Ready For Vote

TORONTO (CP) — Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker said Wednesday night he would submit his leadership to a vote of confidence at the Progressive Conservative annual meeting in February but would oppose an open national leadership convention.

"You don't have leadership conventions unless there is a vacancy," he said. "I am the leader and there is no vacancy." (See also Page 19.)

MP Fires Broadside for Diefenbaker 'Most Maligned Man'

OTTAWA (CP) — Big money interests, paid political commentators, and Eastern Canada members of his own political party have combined to attack Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker, one of his Prairie supporters says in a mimeographed broadside.

Hugh M. Horner, MP for the Alberta constituency of Jasper-Edson, says Mr. Diefenbaker is "the most maligned man in the history of Canada," who has "weathered the most sustained press assassination ever known of a public figure."

Mr. Horner's four-page article was mailed to newspapers, reporters, and political colleagues.

"Why this unrelenting attack upon this man, like a pack of wolves, closing in for the kill? An objective review of his term of office will find the good he did far outweighed anything bad that was done."

Mr. Horner said that Mr.

Diefenbaker came to power with a Prairie radical background, determined to bolster basic freedoms, cut through government bureaucracy, and improve conditions in Canada.

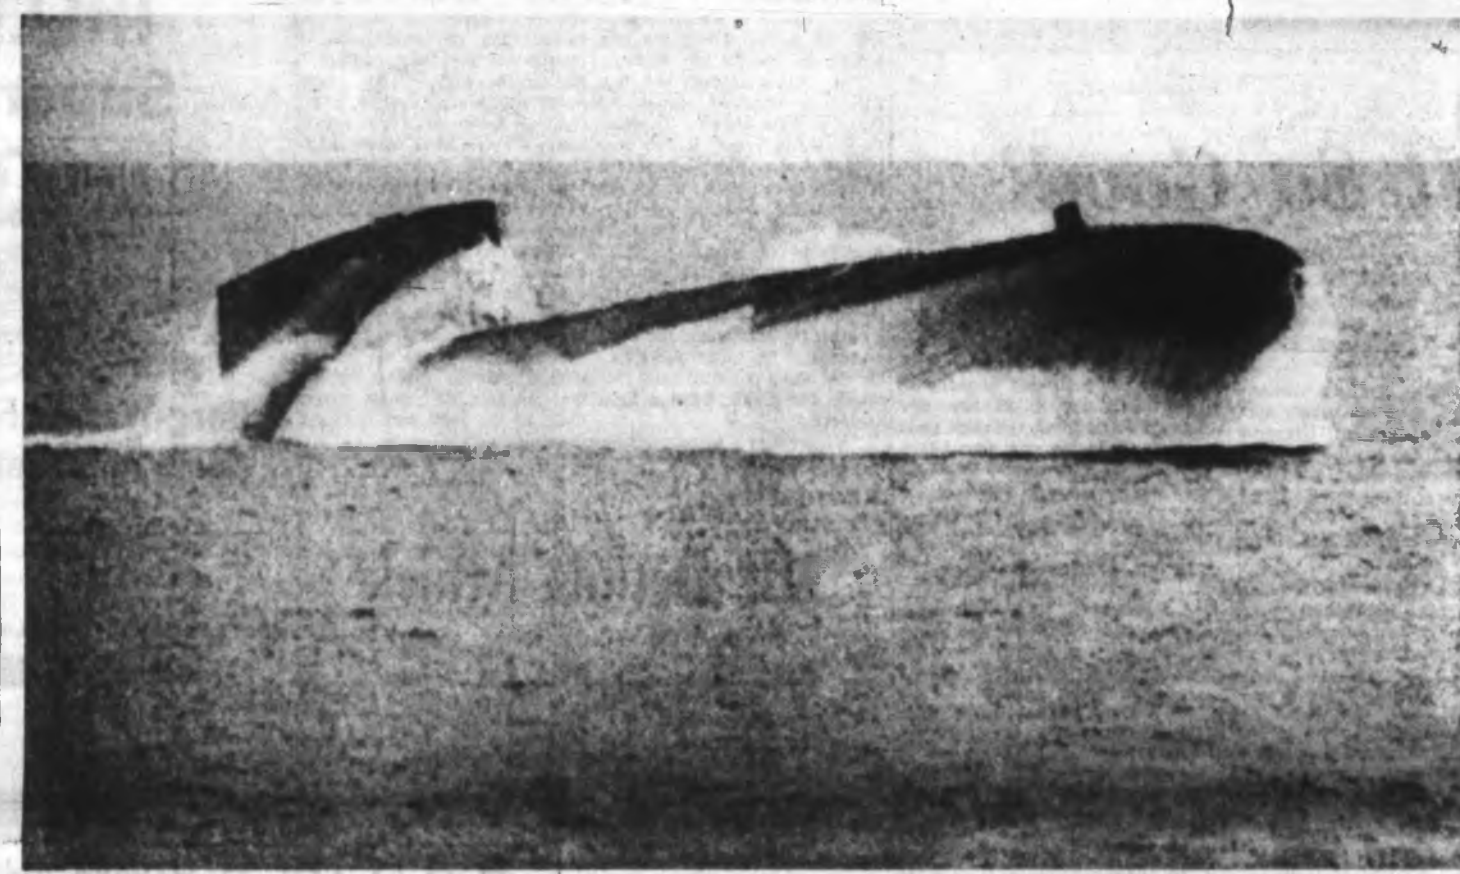

His biggest mistake was "to stick to party loyalty and seniority when he set up his cabinet." He had ministers who were too content and who failed to shake up their departments.

Mr. Diefenbaker bowed to the pressures of civil service advisers in promoting the 1958 conversion loan, even though he did not like it, because "eastern cabinet ministers from the money centres said it had to be." This was "the first chink in the ranks, the attempt by people like (former Bank of Canada governor) Coyne to run the country."

Mr. Horner said the Conservative government's decision to discontinue work on the supersonic Arrow air-

B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation:

Don't Censor—Just Curb Obscenity

The B.C. cabinet was asked yesterday to set up a board which would curb sale of obscene literature by newsstands.

Such a board would "help to raise the moral standards of the community," the cabinet was told by a B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation delegation.

No censorship was involved, the delegation maintained. A resolution outlining the duties of the board said its function would be to:

- Review any publication deemed obscene by any citizen.
- Notify a distributor when a majority of the board considers material to be obscene.

Request removal of the publication for sale.

● Launch court action if the distributor fails to comply.

The resolution suggests that the body be called an "advisory board" and that its target be publications which glorify violence or emphasize sadism and sexual perversion.

The delegation said similar boards are operating successfully in Alberta and Ontario.

A spokesman said the resolution was passed following complaints that teachers in B.C. have had to confiscate obscene material in schools.

The group also asked for a royal commission on school finance, a clinic for the treatment of sex deviates, an educational program to promote water fluoridation, extension of government scholarships to trade and art schools.

Officials of the group said the cabinet seemed interested in their proposals.

Bennett Spurs Marchers

TORONTO (UPI) — A group of 3,000 University of Toronto students plan to march on the Ontario legislature today to express their concern over next week's federal-provincial conference.

Richard Pope, chairman of the university's French committee, said the students were concerned about statements by British Columbia's Premier Bennett that the best attitude was not to give in to the demands of Quebec.

No Interference

ADMIRAL BACKS OFFICER

By JACK FRY

Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore refused to interfere in Esquimalt municipal politics, Esquimalt Voters' Association chairman Lieut. Percy Boyd disclosed last night.

Lieut. Boyd told of Friday's Reeve A. C. Wurtele-Admiral Landymore meeting, after Admiral Landymore told The Daily Colonist from Ottawa yesterday that nothing went on at the meeting which could not be made public.

Lieut. Boyd said that Reeve Wurtele went to the Admiral's office and that he and his commanding officer, Cmdr. E. J. Semmens, were called in.

ASKED HALT

Reeve Wurtele told the admiral he wanted the attacks I had been making against him in the press to cease," he said.

"The admiral heard what Reeve Wurtele had to say, and what I had to say. He indicated no action to Reeve Wurtele in my presence."

"After Reeve Wurtele left, the admiral completely rejected the reeve's (request) and told me he was not going to interfere, that it was my right to participate in municipal affairs," said Lieut. Boyd.

"The admiral personally advised me it might be better not to be so prominent in the campaign."

TURNUED OVER JOB

Lieut. Boyd said he subsequently turned over the job of voters' association spokesman to Gordon Stevenson, but that "I didn't even tell the association what transpired at the meeting."

Meanwhile, Reeve Wurtele said last night that he did not know what Admiral Landymore told Lieut. Boyd because he retired from the meeting before anything was said.

NO COMMENT

The reeve had no comment on a Victoria Labor Council measure Wednesday night calling for him to either clarify his position on charges of intimidating Lieut. Boyd, or resign.

The recently-formed Esquimalt Voters' Association, which backs Coun. Bert Nelson as candidate for the reeveship, has scheduled an all-candidates meeting in the Fraser Street hall, at 8 p.m. Wednesday, with former Jaycee president Eric Charman as chairman of the meeting.

Reeve Wurtele said Wednesday he did not wish to attend the voters' association meeting because "it was a partisan group."

Labor Wins Easily

DUNDEE, Scotland (UPI) — The opposition Labor Party Thursday retained its House of Commons seat at Dundee West with a smashing victory over Prime Minister Douglas-Home's Conservative Party in a parliamentary byelection. The Labor majority was 4,955.

Peter Doug, the 52-year-old Labor candidate, polled 22,419 votes to 17,464 for Tory Dr. Robert Taylor. 41 Dr. James Lees, the Scottish Nationalist, got 3,285 votes, and Communist Dave Bowman got 1,170.

MAJOR VICTORY

The victory was a major win for Labor, which has dealt the Tories a steady succession of by-election setbacks during the past two years.

Labor had expected to hold Dundee West but its majority was much higher than predicted. John Strachey, a former cabinet minister in the post-war Labor government won the seat in the 1959 general election with a majority of only 714.

BRITAIN TODAY

Citizens Did Well Though Trade Lost

By KEN MacTAGGART
(Fifth of a Series)

LONDON—Britain has been described as a Rolls-Royce economy which has been kept at idling speed since the Second World War ended.

While the member countries of the European Common Market group have enjoyed an equal economic advance of 4 per cent or better, that figure was the target set only last year by Britain's National Economic Development Council, known picturesquely as Nedd. Britain's gain that year over 1961 was one per cent.

To most British critics, the cause has been the Macmillan government's infatuation with foreign affairs to the detriment of things at home. And the prime minister's facetious remark in Parliament that "You never had it so good" brought a storm of angry protests from press, parliament and labor.

Yet Britain has never had it so good, generally, at home. The average citizen has fared well. Even critics admit this: their criticism has been about Britain's declining trade overseas, and its potential to add even more to the nation's welfare.

A nation traditionally of renters, Britons have bought for personal use 1,502,637 dwellings since the war. Today, 47 per cent of dwellings are owner-occupied. Into them have gone refrigerators, TV

Navy Ship Freed By Heavy Swell

By BOB PETHICK

The naval auxiliary vessel Laymore, with a crew of 27 aboard, floated herself off the rocks at Strangford Island near 10 Mile Point at 11 p.m. after going aground about 9 p.m.

A heavy swell which started after the ship went aground was credited with refloating the ship.

TURNUED BACK

Three rescue vessels, the Island Tug and Barge tug Sir-mack, the tug Wasp and the naval auxiliary vessel Clifton, accompanied the Laymore.

The ship was on her way back to Esquimalt from Prince Rupert where she was engaged in exercises with units of the Second Minesweeping Squadron, based at Esquimalt.

Laymore's master, veteran skipper Jean Francois, reported to the navy that there were no injuries and his ship was not taking water while on her way back to Esquimalt. The

Better to Raise Pensions Than Monuments, Says MP

OTTAWA (UPI) — New Democrat Stanley Knowles Thursday urged the government to add tangible strength to Canada's centennial celebrations by raising the old age pension to $100 a month by 1967.

"This would be more lasting than monuments of stone, speak louder than the speeches and last longer than the fireworks," he said.

'I Cried to Think That Someone Cared'

How much does a donation to The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund mean to the 500 families in Greater Victoria who are recipients?

To the more fortunate citizens of Greater Victoria this may be a question that is hard to answer but the many letters received at the Colonist from these 500 families who received Christmas cheques last year tell the story.

"We cannot find suitable words to express our humble gratitude at receiving that cheque from you wonderful people for our Christmas.

"Believe me, I sat down and cried to think that someone cared enough about us."

"This is truly the real Christmas spirit, so often forgotten in the mad rush of the commercial world."

"Surely it was through the grace of God, whose birth we commemorate on this wonderful occasion, who put it in your hearts and minds to include us in your personal Christmas in this way.

"What else can we say in thanks but God bless you and trust that your Christmas was as full of the true meaning as ours was through your most generous gift."

This was one of the letters received after last year's cheques were sent out.

Another said, "What can we say other than thank you?"

"You can believe that not one penny will be wasted."

"We can hold our heads high still for it is done in such a fashion that no one need know, but we acknowledge our debt to God."

"If spared we will repay in our own time and our own way for we always share and love to give."

"Taking is the new problem for us, but we accept gratefully for our need was great."

These are just two of the many letters of thanks that tell their story of how much your donation means to fellow citizens who are in desperate need of help.

Russian Jets Down Iran Plane, Two Die

TEHRAN (UPI) — Government officials, announcing a plane and two other military aircraft tracked it down and shot down an Iranian civil map-surveying plane without warning at least 15 miles inside Iran, killing two persons aboard, and critically injuring the pilot.

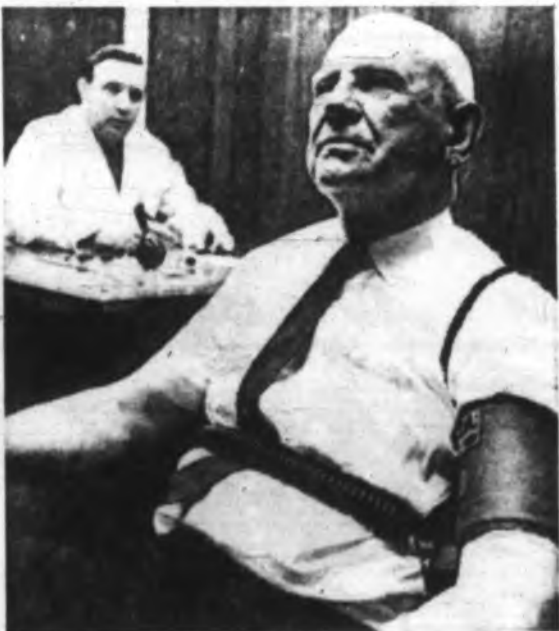

Disclosure of Wednesday's attack by three Russian planes near the northeastern town of Darreh Gaz, came as visiting Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev was telling Iran's parliament in a speech that "good neighborly relations" exist between the two nations.

Officials said the twin-engine Iranian survey craft was on an aerial mapping mission inside the Iranian border when a Soviet MiG fighter, The Mig opened machinegun fire on the Iranian plane, which caught fire and crashed at a point north of the Iranian town of Meshed, eyewitnesses said.

Hoffa Hands Clean Says His Lawyer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — A federal court was told that Teamsters' president, James R. Hoffa, had no part in an alleged attempt to bribe a prospective juror for the labor leader's Jan. 6 jury tampering trial, it was disclosed yesterday.

The court released a transcript of testimony at a closed hearing in which one of Hoffa's attorneys, Z. T. Osborn Jr., allegedly admitted planning to offer $10,000 to a jury candidate for a vote of acquittal in the forthcoming trial.

MOST BRILLIANT
The transcript Osborn, regarded as one of the most brilliant attorneys in Tennessee, told how his feeling toward Hoffa gradually changed from that of lawyer to friend, and finally an identification with the union leader.

"I had sort of an opportunity to see Hoffa on a different basis, and to become impressed with his complete loyalty to his men . . . and to place what I was seeing him do against the newspaper stories that were coming out against him."

The latest victim was found Wednesday in a rain-soaked forest preserve north of Chicago. A "love letter" had been scrawled with a ballpoint pen on the young man's naked body. It read: "Ray Ell 5264, I love you, from Bonnie."

First of the two victims was petty racketeer Leo S. Foreman, whose body was found Monday shot, stabbed, beaten and stuffed into the trunk of an abandoned car. His death was the sixth gangland-style slaying in Chicago this year.

Investigation into Foreman's death centered on a diary he kept, in which were reportedly listed the names of other hoodlums and Municipal Judge Cecil Corbett Smith.

FRIENDS FOR YEARS
Smith said he and Foreman had been friends for 20 years but added there was nothing improper in the relationship.

He, however, said he had telephoned a Chicago police commander on Foreman's behalf.

Sailors of Six Nations To Operate U.S. Warship

LONDON (AP) — Six European Allies have agreed in principle to man and operate a U.S. warship in a unique test of President Kennedy's plan for an international nuclear fleet.

The six European governments which have indicated willingness in principle to stage the unprecedented trial are Belgium, Britain, West Germany, Greece, Italy and Turkey. The

U.S. Doctors Accused By Labor

NEW YORK (AP) — The AFL-CIO charged the American Medical Association Wednesday with distributing a phony record misrepresenting a United Steelworkers Union official as a tough-talking labor leader who threatens union members to collect political funds.

AFL-CIO President George Meany announced that the Steelworkers official, Paul Normile of Pittsburgh, has filed a $300,000 damage suit against the AMA in federal court in Washington.

Normile, at a press conference, said he never made such a speech.

The record, played at the Steelworkers' press conference, represents Normile as telling a group of labor leaders that the Steelworkers' District 16 must "kick in" $146,000 to the committee on political education, the AFL-CIO's political arm, to fight for medical-care legislation in the U.S. Congress.

No Cheers

THOUGH the Canadian Peace Research Institute's public opinion survey indicates that the majority of Canadians support the acquisition of nuclear arms by the present government it is unlikely that many will be cheered at the news that the first atom-tipped Bomarc warheads are expected to arrive in Canada any day now.

Even those citizens who sincerely believe that Canada can best play her part in the defence of the Western world by becoming an active nuclear military force can hardly be expected to be overjoyed at the prospect of this nation falling heir to a batch of these obsolete weapons.

Long discarded by the United States as being completely ineffectual in the role for which it was created, the Bomarc ground-to-air missile has perhaps the saddest and most frustrating history of any weapon developed since the Second World War.

Originally intended to play a major part in the continent's defence against the manned bomber, the Bomarc fell so far short of what was expected of it that the whole air defence strategy of the United States government had to be completely revamped.

This called for the immediate cancellation of plans to establish 30 to 40 Bomarc bases strung along the Canadian-U.S. border and the halting of the missile's production.

It is interesting to note that the two Canadian installations which were part of the proposed Bomarc defence line and six others in the United States are all that now remain of this almost defunct anti-aircraft system.

The handful of American Bomarc stations which still operate are doing so simply because, as the U.S. defence secretary put it recently, they are "bought and paid for."

Regardless of how its champions in Canada (it has none in the United States) care to exaggerate its capabilities, the Bomarc — at wishful best — is only effective against manned bombers. And this only if the bomber comes within its 400 mile range and does not fly either above or below radar limits — a practice that is standard procedure now among all the world's major air forces.

As most Russian bombers are equipped with "stand-off" bombs or guided missiles with ranges exceeding 500 miles and thus able to fire their weapons long before coming within Bomarc range it is difficult to see what purpose such an outmoded weapon can possibly serve—other than to cook a Red air force pilot and crew if it is lucky enough to score a hit.

If, as apparently most Canadians believe, Canada must have nuclear weapons why can they not, at least, be good ones?

Weak Submission

FRENCH-CANADIAN separatists had seemed to be a minority group for all the noise they make but official Quebec appears also to agree with them that Canada is not one nation.

The Pearson government has bowed to an ultimatum from the Quebec premier and moved to change the short title of an act governing the 1967 centennial administration by dropping therefrom the word "national."

Unless this were done Quebec would refuse to take part in the celebrations.

By a weak submission therefore the government has given more scope to the irrational and destructive malaise which threatens the solidity of Canada, its constitution and its people.

The Quebec demand could invite similar but opposite demand from the other provinces. What if one of these advised the government it would not participate unless the word "national" was retained?

To which then would the Pearson regime bow?

Far from reconciling Quebec's unclear and confusing claims for special treatment this acquiescence by the federal government will only harden opinion across the country against Quebec malcontents.

Control Essential

PUBLIC WORKS COMMITTEE of city council has acted wisely in asking officials for suggestions on how design can be controlled if business places are allowed to decorate sidewalks with mosaic inlays. Most residents probably will agree with the committee approving in principle the granting of permission for such adornment — providing that is what it is. No one could object for example to the inlaid insignia in front of the St. John Ambulance headquarters, nor even to something a great deal more elaborate as long as it were in good taste.

But there's the rub. Potentially the idea has considerable merit. It could bring attractive new color and brightness to the downtown streets. But on the other hand, unless subject to firm control of design and content, such decoration could degenerate into straight advertising of an offensive kind. Alderman Millard Mooney perhaps did not visualize the worst when he asked, "Would you like to see the face and figure of a girl put on the sidewalk?"

It is important too that any such installations should not add any new hazards of slipperiness or unevenness to the sidewalks: there are enough traps there now, especially for women's heels, and this is a subject by the way which the committee could well concern itself in its desire to keep downtown Victoria inviting as a shopping district.

Hence it might be suggested that if the inlays are to be allowed, the decision in each case separately should be made by council with the advice of its architectural and engineering experts.

Two Kinds

MR. Diefenbaker: What I was trying to do in a perfectly unprovocative way was to lead up from last night's conversion. I want to know whether or not it is just one of those one-night conversions or whether it is going to be reasonably permanent—because there are two kinds, those that last while the hallelujah chorus is being sung—

Mr. Pickersgill: Ask Alvin.

Mr. Diefenbaker: —and those that last while there is fear that condemnation is about to come. These deathbed repentances do not often last long. However, I am taking it for granted that last night's was not a deathbed repentance, that it was more than a piece of trickery and that it actually means a change in the attitude of the government.

LADY Godiva was a lady of philanthropic bent—she endowed monasteries—but she lives in legend only because she rode on a white horse unadorned with more than her flowing tresses.

Now her modern successor, perhaps because white horses are scarce and so is long hair, rides a motor scooter with no more visible adornment than a crash helmet.

So at least a public poster in an English town suggests, as it depicts a seemingly naked girl scooting along the roadway.

Godiva was aped upon by a Peeping Tom, although since it was a monk who betrayed him the latter must also have been having a squint, but the poster is meant to be widely observed.

In the interests of traffic safety.

Says the safety officer concerned: "We are living in the age of the nude. If the body beautiful will save lives, why shouldn't we use it in road safety?"

Why not, indeed? A motor scooter is not so majestic as a white horse and the poster girl can't emulate the flowing locks which undoubtedly alone entranced Peeping Tom's vision, but as the symbol of a potentially menacing machine it may drive home a lesson.

I hadn't quite thought this was precisely a nude age, however. And not in our current weather nor that prevailing across the Atlantic according to the latest news wires.

Supposedly in Lady Godiva's time the climate was more congenial to public demonstrations of this kind.

But while nudes adorn art galleries and, likewise, surreptitious publications passed secretly from hand to hand, I doubt they qualify as the norm even in modern times. And a parade of present-day Godivas attired in nothing but crash helmets would assuredly invite crashes that even helmets couldn't alleviate.

There has been something of a rumour, of course, over this ingenious traffic advertising gimmick. Not everybody agrees that Lady Godiva should come alive again in the flesh.

Maybe the rumour is needless, though. The safety poster, so called, shows only the back view of the girl in the helmet. How does the traffic officer himself know she isn't wearing something in front? If only as a protection from the flying dust and cinders?

Even a model usually performs in a private studio, you know, and there she is on her scooter on a public highway.

But front or back there is another aspect to the whole business. Godiva was a modest lady, which is why she commanded that the shutters be put up. It would do her good name ill were her example to be taken too literally.

Not, frankly, that I think we are about to be overwhelmed by an avalanche of bare-backed scooter riders. Not in Victoria until the winter is over at least.

Renouncing War

By W. N. DWEER
from London

THE key passage in the first public speech of the new British prime minister—at the traditional Lord Mayor's Banquet in London's Guildhall—was about new thinking on war as an instrument of policy. "War as a continuation of diplomacy by other means has ceased to have any meaning at all," said Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

In one way the renunciation of war as an instrument of policy is not new. It was implicit in the covenant of the League of Nations. It was spelled out in the Briand-Kellogg Pact of 1928 to which all the great powers adhered. It is in the Charter of the United Nations: "All members shall refrain from their international relations from the threat or use of force."

But these renunciations were verbal. Today they have a new validity. The appalling destruction of nuclear weapons has made it clear that any war between nuclear powers would be nothing less than mutual suicide.

The Soviet leaders now seem to see this as clearly as do those of the West. Only a few years ago they were fond of saying that nuclear war would destroy the "capitalists." Now their declarations show that it would also mean the destruction of their own country.

In other words, as Sir Alec said, "The deterrent has de-terred"... or at any rate one hopes that it has; for there still remains the risk of war by miscalculation.

This means that relations between the great powers have, in the last few years, undergone a change which is new in all history. Until now, it was possible for any statesman, in pursuance of some political objective, to take a chance. It might bring war. But war might bring victory. Today "victory" would be meaningless... destruction would be complete and mutual.

These are new and inescapable facts to which we have—and it is not an easy process—to adjust all our thinking and all our actions in the sphere of international relations. After thousands of years the ultimate instrument of policy no longer exists. For its use is unthinkable.

This, for the major powers, means that they have to think in new terms. They have to seek "peaceful solutions" of all issues and all problems.

With the Classics

Broods like the Day, Master over a Slave,
A Presence which is not to be put by;
Thou little Child, yet glorious in the might Of heaven-born freedom on thy being's height,
Why with such earnest pains dost thou provoke
The years to bring the inevitable yoke,
Thus blindly with thy blessedness at strife?
Full soon thy Soul shall have her earthly freight,
And custom lie upon thee with a weight,
Heavy as frost, and deep almost as life!

— William Wordsworth

Not as before because that is preferable. But because there is now no alternative. And they have to abstain—as never before in all history—from any actions based on the assumption of war as a possible consequence.

As Sir Alec gently reminded Mr. Khrushchev, "Statesmen of the world cannot use words like 'over our dead bodies.'" That sort of thinking is pre-nuclear. The H-bomb has—should have—revolutionized international relations.

Yet—and it is an important qualification—this applies directly and immediately only to "nuclear powers" and to their allies for whom war would through escalation imply "thermonuclear war."

What of the numerous non-nuclear countries which are not members of either nuclear alliance? Can they still go on thinking in the old terms? Can they still conduct their quarrels with each other on the assumption that in the last resort solutions may be sought by the threat or use of force?

Here then are the thoughts that, for me, follow this Guildhall speech of the new British premier. It is surely true that for all nations, not only for the nuclear powers, "war as a continuation of diplomacy by other means" ceases in the 20th century to have any meaning at all.

Put Back the Circle

SINGING HO!—Tally—Ho!—
With a cheerful shout, who was the last to let the Town Planner out, and what has he done to the Roundabout? The thrills and some of the chills, I spout, have gone from our trips to the city routes.

Too much of Old England has gone by the way. You've scuttled the Bobby, the tram and the shay. Your city's odd, not a fraud—that's why we like it that way. Now I suppose the Empress goes, might as well fill in the bay, make Beacon Hill Park a big parking lot, a modern city portway.

Visitors come from near and afar your quaint little city to see. A little confusion can be a diversion for this is what happened to me: Out of your Circle we shot by mistake—out in the country, wheee!

The by-ways and side-ways a pleasure one never could ever foresee. Your city was meant to circumvent and that's the way it should be. So forget the square, give with the circle—and please, put it back, just for me?

Dissatisfied

I have arrived in this city recently from the East and the other day I took a trip into the city to try and locate a friend through the New Westminster street directory which I presumed would be in the Public Library. Foolish me! They don't have one in the reference department.

However I did learn that they have one of the nicest little collections on Shakespeare in the same department to satisfy the wants of the local college students.

I understand that the taxes I shall be paying to the municipality of Saanich will be used in part for the support of the Victoria Public Library. I fail to see why local taxpayers should be penalized for having a college in their midst.

Surely the books needed by students should be supplied by the college library from college funds! Then perhaps such a useful item as the New Westminster directory would be available for the public.

Of course there wouldn't have been time to sit down and use it anyway as the room was packed with students doing homework.

APERPLEXED!

Time for Joy

I was surprised to hear a lady on the air singing her views on Christmas decorations so early in the stores. I love to see the decorations in the stores at this time of the year, when the city streets and the weather are dull.

Christmas is a time for rejoicing. When we read that the angels sang and rejoiced to the shepherds on that night long ago, we should still rejoice, and thank all the stores downtown who decorate.

As regards buying in the stores, no one is forced to buy anything they do not want, Christmas or any other time of the year.

When you think that for

Boss in Peril

By MARK FRANKLAND from Prague

MOST discussions on Czechoslovakia these days end up as a debate about one man—Antonín Novotný, the country's president and leader of its Communist Party. There is no other East European leader whose position is so regularly the subject of speculation by Communists and non-Communists alike.

The casual visitor to Czechoslovakia finds Prague not only an extremely beautiful city but also a prosperous one by East European standards. He finds good service and good food in the best restaurants. He can call in at cafes to see the twist and its more modern variants being danced. He can buy reproductions of earlier this year were being attacked as symbols of little less, than political revolt against Communism; are in Prague no more than necessary minimal concessions in a country which has been completely within the European cultural tradition.

It is partly in this context that the accusations of "Stalinism" have been made against Mr. Novotný. It would be more accurate to call him a Communist "conservative," reluctant to limit his control over the party, and the control of his party over the country, or to allow his people any significant contact with unorthodox ideas from the West (or his Communist neighbors for that matter). There seems to be a large element of plain common sense in this conservatism which may have been encouraged by the curiously passive way in which the Czechs, by and large, have accepted his rule.

Looking at the photograph of Mr. Novotný that hangs in many offices and public buildings he would find it hard to accept that this thin-faced man wearing an expression of slight disapproval has even been called the last remaining Stalinist in East Europe.

Two preliminary points must be made to clear up this confusion. Czechoslovakia is the most industrially developed of all East European countries, and the only one to have had something resembling a Western-type industrial democracy before the war. It makes no sense to compare it with the Soviet Union or with the less-developed East European States like Bulgaria and Rumania.

Czechoslovakia invites comparison with Poland and Hungary where the Communist governments have made concessions to the national peculiarities and European cultural traditions of their countries, with a consequent "liberalization" of life quite foreign to Soviet experience.

Czechoslovakia's background suggests that it should have developed over the last few years in the Polish and Hungarian way. But it has not.

Unlike the Poles and Hungarians, Czechoslovaks have no general right to travel privately in the West. They have far less contact with Western ideas and literature either through papers and books or through translations. With some startling exceptions in recent months, the Czechs have not felt able to come out with public criticisms of the regime's policies and actions. The modern music and the modern art forms evident in Prague (and which in Moscow rehabilitation of the Czech victims of the Stalinist period would involve the country's leader. And since the famous Soviet 20th Party Congress in 1956 some measure of rehabilitation has been inevitable.

The personal concern of the Czech leaders in any rehabilitation process may well have been one reason for the reluctance to "liberalize," because liberalization without rehabilitation is impossible.

In fact some rehabilitation has taken place in Czechoslovakia this year (both Slansky and the ex-foreign minister Clementis have been legally, but not politically, rehabilitated), and with results that have quite justified the leaders' anxiety. In June the party paper of Slovakia, the southern part of the country with a different language and cultural traditions, attacked the Prime Minister Vilém Široký for his part in the 1952 trial of Foreign Minister Clementis.

Public criticism of this kind against a prime minister is unprecedented in a Communist country let alone in Czechoslovakia. Novotný came at once to Široký's rescue but Široký gave up his job three months later.

The Široký case was a specifically Slovak affair. Clementis, a Slovak, was admired by his people in a way that Slansky never was by the Czechs. It is the Slovak writers, too, who have been most outspoken in their criticism of this year, Slovakia, made into a separate country by the Nazis, suffered more than the Czechs during the Stalinist period, and there is still a suspicion among Slovaks today that they are too much controlled by Prague. The criticism of Široký, who was the Slovak party leader as well as the country's prime minister, seems to have begun in his own local party organizations and no the basis of his political power was destroyed.

Both East and West European observers have expressed to me their conviction that Novotný must now go himself. In Prague there are rumors that he will not stand again for the presidency in next year's elections. On the other hand things can move very slowly in Czechoslovakia. There are already signs that the economic troubles have passed their worst and also of promising new lines of thought among the planners. Certain concessions have been made—notably the decision to employ people on merit and not just because they hold a party card. The quite far-reaching government changes may also help improve the control of the economy.

But it is more doubtful if Novotný can allow the outspokenness of the intellectuals (notably Slovaks) to develop, partly because he apparently does not want to have in Czechoslovakia the same sort of regime as in Hungary or Poland, partly because by doing so he would almost certainly destroy his own power. That is why Novotný himself is the number one issue in Czechoslovakia today.

I stopped in recently at a spacious tourist establishment to pick out a Christmas present to send to a friend in Europe. And what a choice I had! There were cuckoo clocks from Switzerland, ingeniously carved wooden figures from Germany, a varied collection of bone china from China, ah, England; a marvelous array of bric-a-brac from Japan, numerous Canadian souvenirs made in the U.S.; and, well, I could go on, but this will suffice, for they did not have what I was looking for. Revolt in Sudan Fans Flames Of Racial Unrest

By COLIN LEGUM, from London

The revolt among southern Sudanese, which began two months ago, appears to be gathering momentum. There are three important indices to the seriousness of the revolt. First there is the number of Sudanese Army units being moved south to Juba, the capital of Equatoria Province, and Wau, the capital of Bah El Ghazal Province.

Secondly, the influx of refugees into the neighboring territories of Uganda, Kenya, the Congo and Ethiopia.

And thirdly, the abandonment of villages by peasants who traditionally take to the bush only when there is deep trouble.

The present revolt appears to be reaching the proportion of the last serious uprising among southern Sudanese which occurred in 1955, just six months after the country became independent. Then the revolt was led by the Equatoria Army, and subsequently spread to the tribesmen. This time the trouble has started among the peasants along the frontier of Ethiopia.

Unlike the last revolt, which was mainly concentrated in the Equatoria Province, this rising is reaching into the other two southern provinces—Bah El Ghazal (the land of the Dinkas) and Upper Nile (the land of the Shilluks and the Nuer).

The spearhead of the uprising seems to be an underground violence movement called Anya Nya, named after a deadly poisonous local insect. But the political inspiration comes from exile political groups in Uganda and Kenya. They have been trying for several years now to interest independent African states in their grievances.

The roots of the trouble lie in the fact that Sudan—a vast country more than half the size of Europe but with fewer than 13,000,000 people—is the nexus between Arab Africa and black Africa.

Its northern lands extend naturally into the Egyptian Nile Valley; its southern lands merge naturally with Uganda, Kenya and the Congo.

Thus the north is predominantly Arab and Muslim, while the south is almost exclusively Negro (or Nilotic), and Christian or pagan.

During the long period of British colonial rule almost no attempt was made to unify the two parts of the Sudan. The effects of colonial policy were to strengthen the non-Arab and Christian influences in the south, while maintaining the strong Arabic and Islamic cultures in the north. Thus, when independence came the Sudan was two countries rather than one.

One of the first acts of the newly-independent government in 1955 to merge the two was to introduce Arabic as a common language instead of English; this was one of the precipitating causes of the 1955 revolt.

Ever since that revolt the Sudan Government has been trying to eradicate the southerners' suspicions of what they call "Arab domination of the northers." The latest revolt shows that these efforts have failed. The emotional impetus is largely racial—blacks against Arabs.

There is no doubt that the Sudan Army—probably the most efficient and disciplined army in Africa—will be able to put down the revolt in time, as it did in 1955. But the problem of finding a political settlement will remain.

Both before independence and after the 1955 revolt the agreed solution between northers and southers was that there should be a federation. Nothing has come of this plan, and there has been no effort towards bringing it about since 1958 when General Ibrahim Abboud's present government came to power following a military coup.

The problem has wider pan-African implications since it is obviously detrimental to the interests of the Sudanese that the black African States should ever come to think that the black Sudanese were being oppressed by the almost exclusive Arab regime.

The southern Sudanese leaders lose no opportunities to persuade African governments to listen to injustices being inflicted on them. Thus far they have not had much sympathy mainly because of the unwillingness of the Sudan's neighbors to interfere in her affairs. But if the revolt is prolonged the climate of opinion might change.

Menzies Denies He'll Resign

CANBERRA (AP)—Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies, 72, of Australia denies that he plans to resign if his government is returned to power in the Nov. 30 election.

In a campaign broadcast, Menzies said there was a "whispering campaign" that he would turn over government leadership to Harold Holt, deputy leader of the Liberal party.

Ghana has now a mixed economy—with 33 entirely state-owned industries and over 12 with state participation. Naturally, the benefits of these projects have scarcely yet been reflected in standards of living.

Food prices in Ghana are a good deal higher than Nigeria, but most people feel that the country is making headway. Indeed, it is.

Ghana Puts House In Order

From Accra, Ghana

The atmosphere of bombs and tension which pervaded Ghana a year ago has entirely evaporated. People then were speculating how long the regime could last. Today President Nkrumah goes about freely to public functions.

The regime is settling down and producing results. The inefficiencies, corruption and over-optimistic arrangements with the Eastern bloc are all visibly at an end.

Of the $100,000,000 worth of industrial projects which have been under study by Eastern bloc countries in the past two years, scarcely one has materialized. On the other hand, the Western-financed Volta Dam is visibly rising.

The National Investment Bank has just made its first issue—it was oversubscribed with the participation of British, American and West German capital. The balance of payments and reserves have now been sufficiently strengthened to permit a relaxation of austerity.

Compulsory savings, introduced two years ago, under which wage-earners contributed 5 per cent of wages and companies 10 per cent of profit, has been abolished. The requirement that companies invest 60 per cent of profits inside Ghana has also been dropped.

Food prices in Ghana are a good deal higher than Nigeria, but most people feel that the country is making headway. Indeed, it is.

Russia to Equip Somalia's Army

Red Move Feared

From The London Observer

The Soviet Union's decision to spend $31 million in equipping Somalia's expanded army of 20,000 with modern weapons has produced sharp reactions from Ethiopia and Kenya.

Emperor Haile Selassie has summoned the Russian and other ambassadors in Addis Ababa to warn them against the dangers of an expansion of arms in the horn of Africa when tensions are mounting along all Somalia's frontiers.

In Kenya, Jomo Kenyatta's government—not yet independent and therefore unable to deal officially with Moscow—has made its views known privately.

Russia's decision to provide the arms came after the Chinese had offered to lend the Somalis $20 million and grant an undisclosed amount of military aid.

Diplomatic circles believe that Russia's gamble is being taken to counter China's first serious chance of establishing strong relationship with an African country. The rivalry between Moscow and Peking is showing itself most clearly in their competition for the support of African states.

A second factor that is worrying Africans is the speed with which Communist and Western arms become available when two African countries are in conflict.

Ethiopia and Kenya, who are discussing Somalia's militant campaign to alter the frontiers, are concerned about the radio propaganda from Mogadishu, Somalia's capital, which is beamed to Somalis living in Ethiopia and Kenya. The broadcasts extol the Jihad, the holy war against infidels.

Hunger Never Was in Fashion

By NANCY PHILLIPS

I was reading recently about New York's most expensive dress designer, Norman Norell, whose suits usually cost from $700 to $800 and sell like hotcakes. He does evening gowns that just begin at that price.

I'd reached the point in the story where the author was matter-of-factly describing one of Mr. Norell's little $3,000 ensembles, when I paused to watch an excellent CBC documentary.

It concerned South America and I was particularly interested in the part which dealt with the slums of Rio. Having lived in Brazil for three years and seen these same "favelas," I could testify to the program's unvarnished truth.

Those shots of undernourished children begging daily for their food at the gates of the prosperous, were not mirages. I've fed many such child-beggars myself.

The rags that covered their meagre bodies made me wonder how many loaves of bread could be purchased for the price of an original Norell.

But then hunger and haute-couture have never made a pretty pair, have they?

The fact that three-quarters of the affluent world is utterly devoid of a social conscience, is no reflection on the perfectly normal female desire to look as attractive as possible.

Yet sometimes I think fashion's more fervent disciples have lost all sense of proportion, and in doing so have become symbols of an age of decadence.

By way of example I give you the 50 women among Bergdorf Goodman's regular clientele who ANNUALLY spend from $80,000 to $90,000 on clothes.

With such peacocks in our midst is it any wonder the starving jackals are howling at our gates?

Through this old English Pot Still door pass the secret makings of a great Canadian gin

Our ingredients come from all over the world. Blended in secret proportions, they help to give Sterling Gin its unusual character and dryness.

Into our stills go plump juniper berries from Italy; angelica from Germany; coriander seed from Yugoslavia and caraway from Holland. Other choice aromatics come to us from as far away as Indochina.

But another of our imports plays an even bigger part. To make Burnett's Gin in Canada, we imported the entire Burnett's distillery from England.

Glance again at the door in the picture. It's part of one of the old Pot Stills in which Sterling Gin is made—in small, unhurried batches.

Our methods are rather like home cooking. We know our little, old-world stills as a good cook knows her seasoned pots and pans. If we switched to mass-producing monsters—with 3 to 10 times the capacity—we'd be sure to save time and money.

But our gin wouldn't taste the same.

Reality May Heal Rift

By ERNEST CONINE
from Vienna

The Moscow-Peking rift has forced a "practical cessation" of vital food purchases from Red China, a Czech economic journal reports.

To fill the gap, Czechoslovakia has turned to the West. To the extent that the same situation holds in other Soviet satellites, observers note, it helps explain two recent developments: stepped up efforts by the satellites for trade with the West and reported pressure exerted by them on Moscow to patch up the quarrel with Peking.

Severed Trade Ties With China Unpopular

The November issue of the Journal Planovane Hospodarstvi commented:

"In the structure of our foreign trade there has recently occurred a very important change, which is having a very unfavorable result in our entire economy. It is the practical cessation of trade with the Chinese People's Republic."

Previously published figures show that Chinese-Czech trade fell off 63 per cent from 1960 to 1961. Last July the party central committee said trade this year was running only 16 per cent of 1959 level. The extent of Czech dependence on Chinese food supplies had not been set forth before, however.

Planovane Hospodarstvi said that in 1960 China supplied 46 per cent of all meat, 43 per cent of vegetable oils and 79 per cent of all rice imported by Czechoslovakia. A full 48 per cent of Czech tin imports and 52 per cent of mercury imports also came from China in 1960.

This, experts note, explains why Czechoslovakia turned to the West for meat in 1961—when Soviet meat deliveries also fell from 59,000,000 to 37,000,000 crowns as an apparent result of Russia's own farm problems.

In 1961 Czechoslovakia imported meat worth 15,000,000 crowns from France, 11,000,000 crowns from Uruguay, 8,000,000 crowns from Britain, 4,600,000 from Finland, and 3,000,000 from Austria. None of these countries had supplied any meat to the Czechs the previous year.

In addition, Czech meat imports from Denmark increased from 4,500,000 crowns in 1960 to 22,500,000 in 1961, and imports from Argentina went up from 2,000,000 to 5,000,000 crowns.

For all these purchases abroad, Prague had to dip into its scanty stock of hard western currencies.

The U.S. Food and Agriculture organization recently estimated that the eastern European satellites as a whole have curbed their trade with Red China to a third of its 1960 level as part of the boycott ordered by Moscow.

All this underscores, in the view of observers, what an acute embarrassment the Soviet's own crop failures must be to Premier Khrushchev.

Far from being able to fill the gap in eastern European food supplies created by the boycott of China, the USSR cannot even maintain normal deliveries without shopping abroad.

Thus Khrushchev must tolerate, even encourage, increased trade contacts between the satellites and the West.

The satellites, for their part, presumably would prefer to spend their small horde of western currencies for machinery and equipment than for food supplies previously obtained in barter trade with China.

This would help explain the reported pressure by the satellites on Khrushchev to renew conciliation talks with the Chinese.

First in 40 Years

Unitarian Pastor
Installed Here

The first resident Unitarian Church minister to be installed in Victoria in 40 years went through the ceremony in the Empress Hotel last night before a congregation of more than 100.

Marvin Davis Evans of Virginia became a minister without a church but with an enthusiastic congregation after being charged by Rev. Richard M. Steiner, minister of the first Unitarian Society of Portland.

BEST QUALIFIED

Mr. Steiner told the congregation he felt he was probably best qualified to charge the new minister because he came from a branch of the church that had been in existence for more than 100 years.

The congregation was warned that starting a new church was a challenge, during the sermon by Rev. A. Philip Hewitt, of the Unitarian Church of Vancouver.

NO DUPLICATION

He said the people of the church could go forward firm in the belief that in forming their church they were not duplicating the function of any other church only under a different name.

The new church faced the basic problem of individual freedom and organization, he said.

COMMUNITY SENSE

He said it was the duty of the church to bring the individual out of isolation and give him a sense of community.

In the church a member should find a warm sense of fellowship and be lifted out of a world of mass society, he said.

Stop Fooling Public
Doctor Tells Doctors

OTTAWA (CP)—A Hamilton doctor told the Commons

Thursday night he was almost ashamed to admit he was a medical doctor after seeing some of the letters written by Saskatchewan doctors about that province's medicare plan.

The medical profession should stop hoodwinking the public about government-sponsored medical programs, Dr. William Howe (NDP—Hamilton South) said. There was gross misrepresentation in many of their claims. The propaganda being turned out was unfair to the public.

ALL EXPENSES

Dr. Howe spoke as the Commons studied health department spending estimates. He devoted all of his speech to urging establishment of a federal medical care program. It should cover all medical expenses, including dental work, glasses and drugs.

It was wrong for anyone to suggest that private insurance schemes provided adequate coverage. The best such plan "in this part of the country" was Physicians Services Incorporated, and it covered only 18 per cent of the people and paid only 23.5 per cent of the health bills of member families.

FAVORED BY MANY

H. W. Herridge (NDP—Kootenay West) said the progress made by some provinces in the field of medical care should spur the federal government "to take the bull by the horns." Most Canadians now supported the welfare state—even industrialists who would never have spoken in favor of such a thing 30 years ago.

What the NDP proposed was not a welfare state in which people would be fed with a silver spoon and left to sit on a shelf. "We believe in human dignity and an opportunity for all to develop their talents."

S. J. Enns (PC—Portage-Neepawa) suggested that the health department be broadened to include an education branch to coordinate all federal matters affecting that subject.

Education went hand-in-hand with the welfare of the people and a "terrific public awakening" was needed.

Three-Stage
Drive Starts
On Ridings

OTTAWA (CP)—First signs appeared Thursday of a three-stage attack on the pressing problem of reshaping the boundaries of parliamentary constituencies.

By the time Parliament ends this session, in about another month, the Commons may have acted to produce at least three important changes in the federal Parliament.

The first may be a bigger House of Commons—283 MPs instead of the present 265. Secondly, the recurring task of redrawing riding boundaries may be permanently in the charge of 10 provincial boundary commissions. Thirdly, city and suburban areas may have more members, in recognition of the population shift away from rural areas.

Educational advantages of closed-circuit TV in classrooms were demonstrated Wednesday night.

About 60 people were present in the library at Lansdowne Junior Secondary School to see John Matthews of B.C. Telephone's educational TV department demonstrate equipment.

Legislation Asked

Chiefs Would Compel Tests for Impairment

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Canadian Association of Police Chiefs yesterday recommended each province pass legislation requiring anyone suspected of driving while impaired by alcohol or drugs to take a breathalyzer or similar scientific test.

The recommendation was contained in a brief to Justice Minister Chevrier suggesting he urge provincial attorneys-general to adopt this and other recommendations to provide uniform traffic laws.

SEAT BELTS URGED

The brief also said each province should require seat belts in all vehicles and a semi-annual motor vehicle inspection.

Six Miners Die

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Six Negro miners were killed and 14 slightly hurt Wednesday in a rockburst more than a mile underground in one of South Africa's richest gold mines.

The chiefs asked for a new law making it an offence to drive "while under the influence of alcohol or a drug" and defining the percentage of alcohol in the bloodstream constituting intoxication.

THREE TIMES HABITUAL

They would also have any one convicted of three crimes considered a habitual criminal, and to cut car thefts, recommended a three-month sentence on a second offence for auto theft and a one-year jail term for third offence.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Leon Baker said Thursday many separatist spokesmen are inflammatory, excited and full of exaggeration.

The member of Parliament for Trois Rivières, Que., and former Conservative transport minister said the problems of Canada's two cultures can be worked out through goodwill and good statesmanship by moderates on both sides.

He said in an interview Maurice Lamontagne, president of the privy council, was wrong when he said here recently Quebec will break away from Canada if French-speaking intellectuals and businessmen don't get more say in running the country.

Mrs. Lamontagne was, "a great deal too pessimistic about the future ... and not far from the national Social Party was a death blow with him."

Real Caouette, leader of Quebec's Creditists, was one Social Crediters seriously any of the separatists who now more in our province. They were "discounted" demands are slipping more every day. They won't be a real factor in the next federal election.

Murder Threat, Attack Charged

A charge of assault and threatening to murder was read in Saanich magistrate's court yesterday against David Sands, of Vancouver.

Sands was remanded one week for plea.

He is charged with assaulting his wife, Lorna, and threatening to kill her and their infant child, in Saanich between Nov. 10 and 13.

ern Junk Co. yard, 1314 Wharf, Wednesday, pleaded guilty in city magistrate's court yesterday to attempted theft.

Court was told Norman Moore, no fixed address, had a hacksaw, tinsmiths, pliers and a knife in his possession when approached by police.

He was remanded one week for a probation report.

Riding Club Planning Trail Ride

Yew Tree Highlanders Riding Club is planning a trail ride through the Highlands starting at 9 a.m., Dec. 1.

Riders from Alberni, Nanaimo and Chemainus are expected to gather with regular club members for the start of the event at the Yew Tree Riding Stable on Millstream Road.

LUNCH AT LAKE

The group will leave at 9 a.m. sharp and wend its way over the hills for three hours, ending up at Duran Lake for a lunch stop.

Lunch will be served chuckwagon style and will cost 50 cents.

On the return journey, riders will take a new series of trails in the vicinity of Ricky's Roost, returning to the stable between 4 and 5 p.m. to give up-land riders time to unsaddle and start on their way home.

'Murderer! Fiend!'

Woman Hurls Epithets at Lawyer's Trial

By GEORGE BROWN
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—A woman bystander angrily shouted "murderer! fiend!" at Eugene Thompson yesterday as he ended another day of ordeal in his trial on charges of murdering his wife.

The small, dark woman, who bore a striking resemblance to Thompson's paramour, divorcee Jackie Olson, spat out the words at the dimple-cheeked criminal attorney when he strode from the Hennepin County district courtroom between his lawyers.

WALKS FASTER

Thompson walked a little faster but remained impassive in the face of the epithets.

The incident climaxed trial sessions in which three locks of hair, a white-stone tea ring, a bloodstained butcher knife, a piece of plastic pistol grip and a damaged door night chain gave mute evidence of Carol Thompson's battle for life against a vicious killer.

DOGGED FIGHT

Police detectives and a crime laboratory chief gave testimony indicating Mrs. Thompson, 34-year-old mother of four, and a loyal church worker, fought doggedly against her assailant and was left to die in the front hallway of her fashionable St. Paul home.

She staggered from the house through snow each March 6 while her assassin went upstairs to wash away tell-tale blood, according to the story reconstructed by the police witnesses, and collapsed at a neighbor's home three doors away mumbling about the "knife in my throat."

JUST BYSTANDER

The disturbed woman who cried out at Thompson refused to identify herself to newsmen. She described herself as "just an innocent bystander who does not want to get involved."

Spectators who daily crowd the hallway to watch Thompson leave the courtroom said they did not know whether the woman had listened to yesterday's testimony. She was accompanied by a man and two children.

A court aide said the woman looked much like Mrs. Olson, 27, but was not the "other woman" of the trial. Mrs. Olson testified last week that Thompson remained her in secret rendezvous over a two-year period, but that she saw him only once, except on business, during the 11 months before Mrs. Thompson was slain.

Prosecutor William B. Randall introduced in evidence a broken, 30-calibre German Luger pistol which the state contends was used to bludgeon the slain victim. With it he introduced three live bullets which were found in the struggle-marked front entryway of the Thompson home.

Love Song With Twist

Richard Grady, 22, and his four-foot baby boya constrictor were reunited—in Evanston, Ill., police station. Seems Richard, spurned by Patricia Kennedy, 22, below, sent boya, along with recording of "their song," in box to Patricia at her office job. Boya wriggled across the office floor when she opened box, she screamed for police and signed complaint.

Pearson Plans French Visit

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Thursday he has accepted an invitation to visit France in January but the dates and other details of the trip have not yet been worked out.

He was replying to H. A. Olson (SC—Medicine Hall) who referred to an announcement made in Paris Wednesday by External Affairs Minister Martin.

Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary North) asked the purpose of the trip.

"I hope it will be a goodwill visit," Mr. Pearson replied.

Wage Dividend Due For Kodak Workers

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The Eastman Kodak Co. said Thursday it would pay its 50,000 employees in the United States a wage dividend estimated at $56,900,000.

The dividend, to be paid next March 15, will be the 52nd declared since the practice was begun in 1912.

Approximately 30,000 Rochester-area workers will receive a total of $38,700,000.

Kodak's directors, who voted the dividend, set the payment rate at $36.90 for each $1,000 earned during the last five years. About $53,600,000 was paid last March at the rate of $36.75 for $1,000.

COMMON STOCK

The directors also voted a quarterly dividend of 55 cents a share on common stock and an extra dividend of 40 cents a share, payable Jan. 2 to shareholders of record Dec. 2.

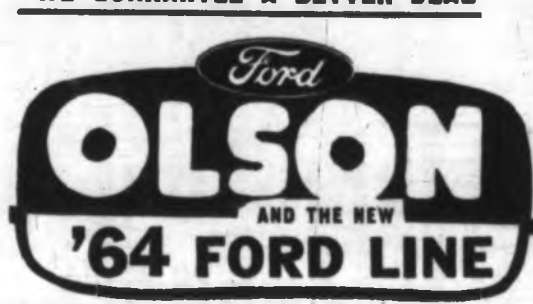

B.C. Chamber to Present Resolutions to Cabinet

Directors of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce will make representations to the B.C. cabinet Thursday. They will present to the cabinet resolutions approved at the provincial chamber's annual meeting earlier this year. Among resolutions will be one on the fishing industry which was worked out by a joint committee, representing both the Vancouver Island sports fishing industry and the mainland commercial fishing industry, after the annual meeting. Directors of the B.C. chamber will also have a quarterly meeting, reception and dinner at the Empress Hotel Wednesday on the fishing industry day.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan. If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Advt.

New Tax Formula

$150,000,000 Extra For Quebec Lesage Aim

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Jean Lesage said Thursday the formula he plans to submit to the federal-provincial fiscal conference in Ottawa next week would enrich the Quebec treasury by some $150,000,000 a year.

He said at a press conference the formula, applied to all 10 provinces, would divert $500,000,000 annually to the provinces from federal coffers by giving the provinces greater direct taxation powers and changing the system of equalization payments.

1966 PROPOSALS

His formula contained basically the same proposals made at the 1960 fiscal conference but outlined the changes suggested in more specific terms.

Premier Lesage will ask for 25 per cent (now 17 per cent) of personal income taxes; 25 per cent (now nine per cent) of corporation income taxes, and 100 per cent (now 50 per cent) of succession duties.

$76,000,000 BOOST

Application of the proposal in the 1963-64 fiscal year would increase Quebec's revenue by about $76,000,000 to roughly $278,000,000. It would cost Ottawa about $300,000,000 if applied to all 10 provinces.

Where the tortuous business of equalization payments is concerned, Quebec seeks a new system based on the per-capita yield of the three standard taxes from the province where it is highest, currently Ontario.

Before 1962, the system was based on the yield from the two provinces with the highest averages, Ontario and British Columbia.

The former Diefenbaker government initiated a system based on the average yield from all 10 provinces, plus the per-capita yield of 50 per cent of the taxes collected by the provinces natural resources in the previous three years.

MORE FOR QUEBEC

The national average this year is $49.94 and the Quebec average is $39.95. This means equalization payments of $9.99 per capita, or $54,079,000, are made to Quebec.

As a result of federal guarantee in 1962 that the provinces would not get less under the national average formula than they did before, an extra $15,460,000 is to come into Quebec this year, bringing the total to $69,539,000.

Quebec's proposed formula would increase this figure to $142,387,000 since the per-capita yield in Ottawa would be $77.03 and in Quebec $50.99.

The gain for Quebec would be $72,848,000 while the federal treasury would lose $184,377,000.

Riders to Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass —All They've Got

By BRUCE LEVETT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Saskatchewan Roughriders, suddenly shoulder-to-shoulder with British Columbia Lions in the dash to the Grey Cup final aren't going to break stride now.

"We won't do anything different next Saturday," says coach Bob Shaw.

"Will we run? No, we won't run. We can't run—we haven't run all year. We'll pass."

NO SECRETS

"I'm not giving away any secrets—it must be obvious by now that we haven't got a running attack."

It was mostly on the pass, fired by Ron Lancaster from an informal formation dubbed "the scramble," that Riders came back from a 19-7 loss to Lions in Regina last Saturday.

They took Wednesday night's game 13-4. Lancaster threw 35 yards to Dick Cohen in the end zone for Riders' only touchdown. Martin Fati booted a convert and two field goals.

For Lions, Joe Kapp hit Ron Morris with a touchdown pass and Peter Kempf converted. A Kempf field goal attempt went for a single for the only other scoring.

The rubber match of the best-of-three Western Football Conference final goes here Saturday at 2 p.m. PST.

B.C. coach Dave Skrien, looking back on a dismal performance by his only healthy, experienced offensive end, said his team has nowhere to go but up and that the knowledge of this could make the difference Saturday.

INCENTIVE THERE

"Now we have to win and this is going to work for us in the next one," he said.

He had no explanation for the performance by Jerry Janes, six-foot-five end from Shreveport, La. Four times the ball went right through Janes' hands. Then, deep in Saskatchewan territory, Janes squeezed one and hung on.

Riders' Jim Copeland hit him suddenly and hard and the ball fell loose. Bob Ptacek fell on it for Saskatchewan.

It was a final humiliation for Janes.

"God, it was a nightmare," he said.

"When something like this happens to you, you just can't explain it. There's no intelligent answer."

No local home telecast but descriptions of the game may be heard over radio stations CKNW (980) and CKWX (1180) starting at 2 p.m.

The first time he dropped the ball he said to himself: "These things will happen . . . Settle down . . . Get the next one."

"But three more, and then that fumble."

"There's still Saturday," he said.

"Thank God for Saturday."

Both teams came out of Wednesday night's game with no fresh injuries.

Saskatchewan was without two all-stars — defensive end Dale West and middle guard Ron Atchison. B.C. was without their top pass-receiver, Pat Clavidge.

Only Atchison is a possible added starter for Saturday.

"He'll be here, injured shoulder or not, if he has to run all the way," Shaw says.

EVERYBODY AGREES

Skrien called it "the worst football we've played all year long" and the columnists went along with him.

Possibly the kindest comment came from The Sun's Jack Wasserman:

"The way some of the fans reacted you'd have thought that the Lions' loss was a matter of grave importance, roughly comparable to the assassination of Premier Dief."

Frankly, I don't think the contest qualified for United Nations attention."

Roughly were good value for their win. They out-gutted the Lions, who came in fat."

Said Al Hooper in The Province:

"It might be argued that the Lions should have won this game and it doubtless will be . . . The Lions might have made better use of their remarkable total of five interceptions, but those dropped passes . . ."

Eric Whitehead writes:

"Last night it was off with the silk and on with the sackcloth and from here in they'll (Lions) just have to join the raggedy-Andy and go back to plain, vulgar old alley-fighting."

It was Shaw who dubbed his limping leviathans "raggedy Andy."

Trainer Sandy Archer said the team is kept together with adhesive tape.

"For every game, I go through 56 rolls of large-size tape, a dozen cans of elastic bandage and 36 rolls of three-inch adhesive. That's about 1,400 yards of tape—nearly a mile."

Their reasons are many and varied and, I'm certain, a psychologist would say, mostly stem from some sort of frustration.

Some claim they are pulling for the underdog, conveniently forgetting that this is what the Lions have been for nine seasons. Others have decided the Lions are the Vancouver Lions and not the B.C. Lions and some have taken a dislike to Herb Capozzi, Joe Kapp or someone else connected with the team whom they have never met. Most of all, I think, the many who were disappointed when the Lions fumbled around for almost a decade and whose support turned to bitterness are bothered by the thought of switching back. They don't want the Lions to prove them wrong again.

There are, admittedly, those who have been honestly carried away by their admiration for the spunky Roughriders but while I have admired many of my opponents, it has never been to the extent that I hoped that they would beat me.

Once again, it is every person's right to support the club of his choice but it is difficult to understand after waiting all these years for this chance why anyone permanently resident here hopes the Lions will lose. With invective.

That they may be quite possible but, I don't think, probable. A second look at the game pictures and a more leisurely perusal of play-by-play notes doesn't alter the opinion that the Riders deserved to win. But it did bring proof that, once again, the Riders got the breaks when it really mattered.

Neither club looked really sharp except on defence in the second look. The Lions fumbled the ball away three times, Jerry Janes couldn't hold well-thrown passes and, most of all, the Lions obviously sinned unforgivably by going into this one over-confident.

This enabled the Riders to have an edge for most of the game, but they did practically nothing with it. They were intercepted five times and all they had to show for it was a 30 first-half lead, picked up when Martin Fati got his first field goal of the season.

With less than 10 minutes left, Riders trailed by five points and only the ineptitude of the B.C. club rather than their own good play kept the difference from being two touchdowns more.

Then the Riders got their break. I thought the picture showed Neal Beaumont was bumped just as he got a punt away, ordinarily a closely-called infraction. Had it been called, the Lions would have had a first down near mid-field. Instead, they got a no-yards penalty covering the punt, and the Riders moved from there to their winning touchdown.

No, I'm not trying to say that the Lions should have won—only that they played a game which perpetrated against any other club would have resulted in a rout. Nor have I subscribed to the thought that the Riders are not a good club but poor country cousins who deserve sympathy. I believe they are a good football club, that someone up there loves them and that they could last one more game, or even two.

But, on Saturday, I think the Lions will win, and win handsily, because they are the better club. I also hope they win but if they don't, there will be no argument here about them deserving to be there, only the hope that those amazing Roughriders get that last one, too.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

It was only minutes after the completion of Wednesday night's football game that a Royal Theatre viewer telephoned to express his disgusted opinions about Victoria fans, and there were perhaps a noisy 150 or more of them there, who cheered for Saskatchewan Roughriders and against B.C. Lions.

"You know," he said in one of his milder moments, "there has to be something wrong with fans who cheer against their own club."

On this he received whole-hearted agreement but, it was pointed out, no one could deny that those who paid their way into the theatre or the game had every right to support the club of their choice. It was the intention, so he was matter drop there until it was learned that only a minute or two earlier, a rude Saskatchewan adherent had spoken his piece via telephone.

"I suppose," he said sarcastically, "that we'll have to look all through the paper to find the story about this game. When the Lions win they get eight-column headlines but nothing is said about the Riders."

There's only one wish that I would have for this kind of a fan—that he be ordered to live out his days in the area from which he apparently escaped. One of the amazing things about so many people who leave the prairie country by choice to come to where living is less harsh is their reluctance to admit this is why they left. To hear them tell it they are being put upon, by being forced to live here.

For those interested in sport, this often extends into the field of athletics. One can understand that a person who has supported one of the four prairie football clubs will continue to do so for two or three years after arriving here. It should end there but with some it isn't so much to support their old club as it is not to support their new one.

There are, admittedly, those who have been honestly carried away by their admiration for the spunky Roughriders but while I have admired many of my opponents, it has never been to the extent that I hoped that they would beat me.

Once again, it is every person's right to support the club of his choice but it is difficult to understand after waiting all these years for this chance why anyone permanently resident here hopes the Lions will lose. With invective.

Regina Fans Still Shaking Heads Telegraph Companies Overjoyed

REGINA (CP)—Jubilant erupted in this city of 120,000 in the wee small hours of Thursday morning as television viewers and radio listeners saw and heard their Saskatchewan Roughriders engineer a last-quarter win over B.C. Lions in the second game of the Western Football Conference final series.

Later in the day fans were still shaking their heads in joyful disbelief at the Riders, who have come up with two big upsets to keep alive their hopes of getting into the first Grey Cup game since 1951.

Saturday's final game in the best-of-three final series, now tied at one game apiece, will be televised here and thousands are sure to be watching. Few fans planned to go to Vancouver for the Saturday game but they were urging the players on with a blizzard of telegrams, some private and some sponsored by local radio stations and businesses.

More than 8,000 names on telegrams went out to the club from rabid fans before Wednesday night's game and already another 2,000 have gone out for the Saturday game. Twenty thousand more are expected.

Plans were afoot for a big airport welcome for the Roughriders when they return from Vancouver Sunday at 2 p.m.

Canadian all-stars Ron Atchison, a middle guard, and Dale West, a defensive halfback, who missed the Wednesday game because of injuries, hopped on a plane last night to go to Vancouver, perhaps to play Saturday.

"You can't figure them out," Atchison said of his teammates as he prepared to go to Vancouver. "It's amazing what you can do when you put your mind to it."

And It's Close Behind

Hull Has Company

Playing the best hockey of his career and getting points at a record-breaking pace, Bobby Hull is still unable to pull away in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

The husky Hull has rapped in 14 goals and been credited with an equal number of assists for 28 points from 18 games. But he is only two points ahead of teammate Stan Mikita and Jean Beliveau of Montreal Canadiens, who have a game in hand.

And close enough to move into the thick of things are Ken Wharram of the Hawks and Andy Bathgate of New York Rangers, who have 21 and 20 points, respectively.

Statistics also show that Chicago veteran Glenn Hall, who has played 15 games and one period out of 18 games, is leading goalkeepers with a fine 1.89 goals-against record.

Closest to Hall is Charlie Hodge of Montreal Canadiens, who may keep Gump Worsley in the AHL for a while. Hodge has a 2.33 record for nine games, while Toronto's ancient Johnny Bower stands at 2.46.

There is competition, too, for the penalty title. Toronto's Ed Snick leads with 59 minutes but Chicago's Howie Young, seeing only scattered spot action, has made the most of it to roll up 53 minutes.

And teammate Reg Fleming, out with injuries for a spell, has already raced to 45 minutes.

Is Grey Cup Good for Business?

OUTDOORS with Alec Merriman

A proposal to cut the sports salmon catch limit in half will be initiated at Monday night's fish and game fishing chapter meeting at Goldstream Clubhouse.

But the reduced limit would be aimed at grise and blue-back fishermen, not at the four full-sized salmon sports fishermen are now allowed each fishing day. If you can get them.

Proposed motion asks that "daily sport fishing limits on grise and bluebacks be made the same as the daily limit on salmon" which means four salmon of any size instead of eight salmon, only four of which may be more than three pounds (grise).

It is also hoped to have Karl Spritz and Ricky Cicci-narra's movie, Steelhead Fishing on the Cowichan, for Monday's meeting.

It sounds like it will be the outstanding meeting of the year.

James Bay Anglers meet Sunday, Dec. 1, at 8 p.m.

Last week by a two-thirds majority the Victoria Fish and Game Club went on record in favor of fish and game director Jimmy Hatten's proposed new scale of hunting licence fees.

Licence fees now are $4 for a firearms licence, good for deer and birds with a 50-cent charge for deer tags, and $7 for a general game licence with a $2 charge for a moose-elk tag.

New proposal is $4 for a basic licence, 50 cents for deer tags, $5 for a moose tag, $5 for an elk tag, $5 for a grizzly bear tag, $3 for a caribou tag, $2 for a goat tag.

New licence structure doesn't mean any change for Vancouver Island hunters, but it will broaden the scope of hunting for B.C. mainland big game hunters and at the same time will cost them more money. They would be able to buy both a moose and an elk tag, where before they could only get one combination tag.

It would mean more revenue from B.C. hunters, and hunters are adamant that increased revenues should be spent within the fish and game branch.

The Victoria club also went on record as calling for representation in the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs on a per capita basis.

The Victoria club, largest in B.C. with 1,400 members (next largest has 800 members) has only one vote, just the same as the 116 out of 125 member-clubs with under 300 members.

Victoria proposal is for one vote for first 100 members, two votes for 101 to 500 members, three votes for 501 to 1,000, and four votes for more than 1,000 members.

There are only two more weekends of deer hunting season, and hunter success is still good, although it slipped a little last weekend.

Jim Boulding reports excellent deer shooting in the Buttle Lake area, and although there have been few fishermen, those who have been combining a hunt with some fishing have met success in both.

Hooker Mountain and Green Mountain and the Green-Hooper connection in the Nanaimo Lakes area has been giving up some big old deer.

Bruce Lohr still leads Victoria fish and game hunters with the 191-pounder he shot at Gordon River opening weekend. His brother, R. O. Lohr, with a 180-pounder, is the only other member in the grand Burton class.

There are 18 weighed in for the 100 to 180-pound silver button class and 24 for bronze buttons, 100 to 180 pounds.

Tolino has been having a poor goose shooting season so far this year. David Gibson bagged his first big Canada of the year on Wednesday and this might indicate they are ready to come in. Cacklers have been fairly plentiful.

Hottest fishing is for grise in Finlayson Arm on bucktail flies around Goldstream Island and for winter springs in the waters between Hall's wharf and the island.

Willis Point and the White Lady areas also have good concentrations of grise, and winter springs are being taken in Tod Inlet with early morning and evenings best.

REMEMBER, GRILSE MUST BE 12 INCHES.

A few springs are being taken off Sooke. Becher has been producing around the Bedford Islands. Perder Bay is a hot spot for winter springs on the incoming tide. Victoria waterfront is good for winter springs.

We hear plenty of complaints about commercial trollers shaking scores of grise off their lines. Flocks of seagulls follow the commercial boats to feed on the dead grise.

Cowichan Bay and Crofton and under the power line in Sansum Narrows are all giving up good grise fishing.

Cowichan Lake is still hot for trout fishing at creek mouths. Cowichan River is still high and muddy, but top end of the river below the weir is giving up a few trout.

There are steelhead in the Cowichan, cold weather may bring river level down quickly, then there will be hot fishing. The same applies to all rivers. Lakes are still good bets, but they won't be for much longer.

Maritimes Jumping Atlantic Bowl Time

HALIFAX (CP)—Football in the Maritime provinces begins to put on the frills today in advance of the fifth annual Atlantic Bowl game here.

Parades, a ball, civil luncheons, clam chowder, beauty queens, awards dinners, drum majorettes and lots of comp-hap from the hands are the fringe benefits to what stacks up as a tough tussle between the Atlantic Football 11 Conference champion St. Francis Xavier University X-Men and the University of Toronto Blues of the Senior Intercollegiate League.

Saturday's game will be the second bowl brush between the two in as many years. Last year Toronto nudged the St. F. X. squad from Antigonish, N.S., 20-14.

The two-time winner of the Dutch Open would otherwise have had to make a 200-mile round trip daily to Bloemfontein for the championship.

The top three women and top three men at the conclusion of the trials today will represent Canada at the Olympic Games in Innsbruck, Austria, in February, 1964.

The pairs competitions will also be held today.

Port Angeles Swim Club meets Victoria Amateur Swimming Club in a sanctioned dual invitational splash at Crystal Garden Saturday evening.

First race starts at 5 p.m. and the last should be over by 7.

Donald Knight of Dundas, Ont. led the senior men's class with 206.5 points. Second place was taken by Gregory Folk of Toronto with 204 points. Dr. Charles Snelling of Toronto was third with 202.4 points.

VANCOUVER (CP)—With football fans ready to pour into the city by train and plane for the Grey Cup football festival one would expect merchants to be gleefully strengthening digit fingers for hard work at the cash registers.

Not necessarily so. In fact, a few merchants would just as soon the fans, football game, cup and festival would stay somewhere east of the Rockies.

The question, what does Grey Cup festival mean to the business community brings more than one answer.

Hotels, eateries, cocktail bars, night clubs, U-drives and taxis expect to make nothing but money. Some stores expect to reap a minor bonanza.

Most agree that on the long haul the entire community must benefit from the continent-wide publicity of the Canadian football championship.

In a survey conducted after the 1960 Grey Cup here 15 per cent of the businesses answering said business increased. Fifty-six per cent said it decreased and 29 per cent said there was no change.

Forty-nine per cent said there was material value to the business community by having the Grey Cup game here. Forty-eight per cent said there was none and three per cent had no answer or were doubtful.

CANCEL PARADE

Comments ranged from "great stimulus to business at slack time of year" to "keep it in east or cancel parade and hold game on Saturday night."

Rec Rose, general manager of the Vancouver Board of Trade, says that while the accommodation, service, and entertainment industries get all the business they can handle, the fans have little time for shopping.

BUY SOUVENIRS

He says there will be some souvenir buying and most of the 100 floats in the Grey Cup parade will be built here. But the downtown stores can't expect much business.

However, he sees long-term benefits from continent-wide telecasting of the championship game and the news stories that will flow out of Vancouver. And the out-of-town fans will carry a message home about the city and they and their friends may visit here again in the summer.

He says one often-overlooked benefit to the city is the com-munty spirit the festival engenders.

Roy Hurst, manager of the British Columbia branch of the Retail Merchants' Association, says the fans do not come here to shop.

Harold Merilees, head of the city's visitors bureau, disagrees. He says it is doubtful that any fan will spend much less than $100 a day.

He says it is the same story the world over—visitors spend money on presents for their families and souvenirs. The festival was a long-term benefit to the whole province. The "miracle mile" race of the 1954 British Empire Games here focussed the attention of the whole world on the city.

Quiet Fans Disappoint Policemen

VANCOUVER (CP)—As far as Vancouver police are concerned operation "Little Grey Cup" was a dud.

Only 26,700 fans turned up for the Roughriders-B.C. Lions clash in the second game of the western Canadian football final at Empire Stadium Wednesday night and nothing happened—except that Lions went down to a surprising 13-8 defeat.

The game and its expected near capacity crowd of 35,000 odd was to have been a trial run for Vancouver police in their plans to keep things under control come Grey Cup day, Nov. 30.

"Everything we thought might happen didn't," said Inspector F. C. Errington, who was in charge.

The only incident—if it could be called that—was that a policeman had a woman's purse turned in to him.

Police equipped with walkie-talkies for the game had little to talk about. Extra regular police and 28 reserves were on duty but stood around with nothing to do.

"Maybe we'll get a better rehearsal Saturday," said the inspector.

That's the day Roughriders meet Lions again in the third and deciding game of the series now tied at a game apiece.

Letter Gimmick

Form Chain

That hoary gimmick the pyramid chain letter has turned up in Victoria in a new guise.

This time it concerns a Quebec firm which is writing to residents of the Victoria area offering to send cigarettes by mail, reports the Vancouver Island Better Business Bureau.

Here's how it's supposed to work:

FOR QUICK RELIEF
Use on highly-medicated, fast-penetrating
BUCKLEY'S WHITE RUB
Must give total foot relief or total refund
Sold Everywhere—Only 67¢

A person gets a letter and three coupons from the firm. He is supposed to sell each coupon to a friend, at $4 each. He sends the $12 to the company and gets three cartons of cigarettes, a premium and nine more coupons.

FRIENDS SELL COUPON

He keeps the cigarettes and premium and gives each of the three friends three cards. Each friend then sells a coupon each to three of his friends for $4 each, sends the $12 to the company, and receives three cartons of cigarettes, a premium and nine coupons. And so the cycle goes on.

MARKET THREAT

The catch, of course, is the rapid acceleration in the number of people involved. The market would soon run out. If one person began the chain, for example, the number of persons who would form the 12th link in the chain would be greater than the population of Greater Victoria.

Ready for Santa Parade

Jolly clowns and cartoon characters are ready for Saturday's Santa Claus Parade. Parade will begin at 10 a.m. at Belleville and Government and proceed east to Douglas and north on Douglas to Field where it will disperse. Skeptics may identify charac-

Ice Capades

To Stage Shows in Victoria

Ice Capades artists cut their long Christmas holiday in half in order to stage their show in Victoria this year.

Instead of getting a holiday from Dec. 15 to Dec. 25, when they open in Spokane, the company will play in Victoria Dec. 19, 20 and 21 and have four days' holiday.

They'll have earned it after playing evening shows on the Thursday and Friday and three shows on the Saturday.

This year's show, completely new, features the full score of Jerome Kern's "Showboat," Victor Herbert's "Babes in Toyland," a salute to George M. Cohan, Rachmaninoff's Concerto No. 2, a West Point Cadets' number, a space age spectacular and a Mexican Indian number.

The West Point costumes and drills are authentic and for the first six weeks of the show, the college appointed a sergeant to travel with the show to train the 70 chorus girls and the 10 principals in correct West Point drills.

ALSO AUTHENTIC

The Mexican costumes, dances and music are also authentic and the music is used with permission of the Mexican government.

As usual the show will call on local talents and skills. A pianist, percussionist and an orchestra conductor travel with the show and eight local musicians will be hired to complete the orchestra.

LOCAL PEOPLE

Stage crews will be local people as the company follows its policy of hiring local help as much as possible.

Local skaters won't be used, of course, but they can audition, and Metromedia, producers of Ice Capades, is anxious to see as many skaters as possible.

"That's where the new talent comes from," said Jay Edson, the show's publicity manager. He said that the girls usually stay two or three years in the show then return to their homes to work or continue their education.

GOOD SHOWING

Last year two skaters from Victoria auditioned, which is considered a good showing. In some towns there are no applications for auditions.

Auditionees who are accepted are sent to the company's training school in Hollywood. In cases where exceptional talent is shown, the skaters will join the road company and stay on the sidelines studying for two or three weeks.

Stars of the show are Canadians Borgen and Paul, current world Olympic champions.

Canada awards the Lou Marsh cup each year to the best skater, and this year, for the first time, was presented to both skaters instead of one as is customary.

Other skating stars to appear are Grete Borgen, Norway; The Mexfields, a duo of dancers; Freddy Trenkler, Demko and Ben-Gee, Eric Waite, all specializing in different forms of clowning; Peter Larsen, Jimmy Grogan.

Vancouver Island is represented in the chorus with Lorraine Silverthorn of Nanaimo.

Hog Fuel Cargo Lost
As Tide Flips Barge

A barge dropped its cargo of hog fuel into Juan de Fuca Strait Wednesday afternoon when heavy winds and strong tides shifted the cargo and tipped the barge over.

The barge, the IT 31, was one of two under tow from Sooke to Crofton by the tug Island Ranger.

The cargo, composed of saw-mill waste, settled to one side of the barge when buffeted by heavy winds and waves, then a tidal rip struck near Trial Island to flip it over.

There were no injuries, and the IT 31, owned by Island Tug and Barge, was towed into the Inner Harbor. A diver carried out an underwater survey of the barge Thursday and could find no damage.

Fish Pact
Protested
By Barnett

OTTAWA (CP)—Tom Barnett (NDP—Comox-Alberni) said in the Commons Thursday he was shocked to learn that the government agreed to Japan fishing for halibut and herring in previously restricted areas off the British Columbia coast, without any official notification to the House of Commons.

Mr. Barnett said that under the international North Pacific Fisheries Convention, Canada, the United States and Japan had agreed to restrict fishing in certain areas as a conservation measure.

Jodoin Asks
Labor Front
Against SIU

MONTREAL (CP)—Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, called on Canadian workers yesterday to form a united front against the Seafarers' International Union Ind., which he described as a union in name only.

Speaking in French, he told the opening session of the Quebec Federation of Labor's annual convention that the CLC is an autonomous labor body which "refuses to agree that the labor movement be controlled by people who want nothing but its destruction."

SIU Plea
Pondered

MONTREAL (UPI)—Mr. Justice Roger Ouellet yesterday took under advisement "for at least two weeks" a plea by the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (SIU) to have the Canadian government trusteeship over maritime unions declared invalid on grounds it violated the Bill of Rights.

Last year two skaters from Victoria auditioned, which is considered a good showing. In some towns there are no applications for auditions.

Danes All For a Nuclear Canada

By DAVE MCINTOSH

COPENHAGEN (CP) — If any member of the Canadian Commons defence committee had hoped to receive encouragement from non-nuclear Denmark for Canada to revert to a non-nuclear defence policy, they were disappointed here. Ever so discreetly, Danish foreign and defence officials told the committee Wednesday at two briefings that Denmark would be pleased if Canada maintained its nuclear bombing role in Europe.

Privately, one senior Danish authority said: "Who do you think provides the main nuclear deterrent for NATO in Europe? Not France and not us and to every NATO member Britain. It's provided by Canada, the United States and West Germany."

"In our opinion, any Canadian withdrawal from the nuclear bombing role in Europe at this time would damage NATO militarily as well as politically."

The committee flew on to London and heard George Bagge, Canadian high commissioner, say that in the last five years Canada has provided more combat-ready aircraft in Europe than any other NATO country except the U.S.

Japanese Miners Die Death Toll Now 453

TOKYO (AP)—Three miners rescued from the shattered underground tunnels of Omuta Mine Nov. 9 died Wednesday night, raising the death toll to 453. Gas poisoning, the mass killer in the explosion that ripped the southern Japan mine, was blamed for the new deaths. About 120 of the 270 men rescued and in hospital are suffering from amnesia caused by gas poisoning.

Promoted

A Victoria man, WO1 Joseph Tatham, has been promoted to lieutenant and posted to 215 Workshop, Calgary. For the past three years he was control officer at 214 Workshop, Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers, in Vancouver.

Canada-Cuba Walkers Held

MACON, Ga. (AP)—Nineteen Canada-to-Cuba peace walkers were arrested Tuesday on charges of illegally distributing literature and resisting an officer. Some Canadians were among the starters but they later dropped out of the march. The walkers began their trek last summer at Quebec City.

Six-Hour Job

Fastidious Thieves Select Best Furs

MONTREAL (UPI) — Discriminating thieves broke into a cold storage plant, handcuffed the night watchman to a post and systematically rifled 100 vaults of the choicest furs they could find early Thursday.

Adrien Baillargeon, president of the J. B. Baillargeon Express and Storage Company in Montreal, said the thieves spent six hours "picking the best furs they could lay their hands on."

He said it would take until today to determine the exact amount stolen. The men handcuffed night watchman Henri Gagnon at 10:15 p.m. and finally fled around 4 a.m.

Gals with style in mind love the new-look Laundromat

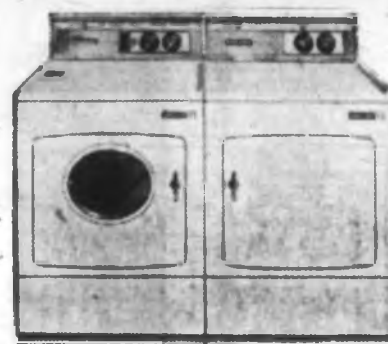

NOW THE TUMBLING TUB LAUNDROMAT HAS STRAIGHT-FRONT DESIGN...A SCULPTURED TOP!

Outside... our new Straight-Front design gives a built-in look. Inside... Westinghouse exclusive Tumble Action gets out hidden detergent and dirt that top-loader automatics leave behind.

See how good it looks: Flush-to-wall installation makes it easy for the new Straight-Front design Laundromat to line up perfectly with kitchen or utility cabinet fronts. New sculptured No-Drip Top is a styling exclusive... provides a counter-height work surface as no top-loader can do—in perfect position for wash-load sorting.

See how well it washes: Westinghouse Heavy Duty Laundromat actually harnesses gravity to help the washing action. Its unique tumbling tub pulls clothes up through the wash water. Then gravity plunges them down for another dousing. Up and around—fifty seven times a minute. It gets clothes cleaner with half the detergent and bleach other washers use (far less water too). See the Straight-Front Laundromat Automatic Washer at your Westinghouse dealer's—with the new Straight-Front Matching Dryer. They're on display right now.

Bashful Bull Cowed, Veterinarian Sues

HEREFORD, England (UPI) — Adrian, the timid bull, was so shy that he fell over backward and sat on a veterinarian when a cow walked up and looked him in the eye.

Arthur Zandona, who bought Adrian thinking he was a prize bull, filed suit here claiming Adrian was too bashful to breed.

Duncan Concert Tonight

The Victoria Symphony orchestra with guitar virtuoso Rey de la Torre visits Duncan this evening for a concert at 8:30 p.m. at Cowichan High School.

A delightful pianist at five, an accomplished guitarist at 10 and a concert virtuoso at 16, Mr. de la Torre will play a concerto for guitar composed by the Spanish composer, Joaquín Rodrigo. Mr. de la Torre played the premieres of this composition with the Cleveland Symphony orchestra.

Beethoven's Eroica Symphony, a concerto grosso of Corelli and Aaron Copland's Fanfare for the Common Man complete the program to be repeated in Victoria at the weekend.

Crowds Doubled

Superb Theatre For the Masses

By IAN STREET

Long Day's Journey Into Night, now showing at the Fox Cinema, is superb theatre of the kind that, for the present at least, can only be seen here on the movie screen.

Eugene O'Neill's powerful drama of a family disintegrating under the stress of intense emotional conflict is presented as filmed theatre. No attempt is made to adapt it to the screen by use of cinematic devices.

The entire play takes place in the claustrophobic atmosphere of the rundown summer home of the Tyrone's, a thin disguise for O'Neill's own family. The sense of unreality, of being cut off from the world, is heightened by swirling sea fog, the beam of a lighthouse sweeping across the windows, and blaring foghorns.

The play was published some years after O'Neill's death and it's not difficult to see why the successive layers of the love-hate relationships of its four main characters are laid bare.

MORPHINE ADDICT
Katherine Hepburn is the mother, a morphine addict, who refuses to face up to the fact that her younger son is suffering from consumption, the disease that killed her father.

The father, played by Sir Ralph Richardson, is a brilliant actor who ruined his career for money, and is blamed for his wife's addiction because he "hired a cheap doctor."

He also wants to send young Edmund (Dean Stockwell) to a state institution instead of a private sanitarium for treatment.

FINE ACTOR
Stockwell, grown from child star to fine actor, is the young O'Neill home from the sea and about to burst forth in the American theatre.

Jason Robards Jr. as the older brother, Jamie, fond of the bottle and low-life, hides his love for Edmund under a cloak of bitterness and cynicism.

Satirical Birds Great Fun

SFO notices have been hung out for all performances of The Birds presented at the Gordon Head Theatre by the Victoria Players club.

This ensures capacity houses for the full run of the play, which opened Wednesday and runs until Saturday with a rest post-four-day cycle next week.

It's a free-wheeling modernization of the 2,300-year-old satire on conditions in Athens in a time of far-reaching ambitions and the wildest speculations.

Social Credit, therefore, seems the logical choice as prime target for many of the birds in The Birds, 1963.

Not that the satire in this version, directed by Carl Hare, is savage or even particularly timely. A good deal of time is devoted to the Prometheus affair, which adds spice, but is getting a bit dated. And pokes at the Soviets seemed, mainly directed at the party's funny money theories.

It nevertheless provides a lot of laughs even to those who are not familiar with the play.

Dr. C. H. Lamberton's music of the costumes and sets of Bill West and the choreography by Sharon Kirk were all successful.

The masks, in particular, looked good but often seemed to muffle voices of the players. Some who admired the earlier production of The Tempest may be disappointed this time. The Birds is certainly open to criticism that it is ambitious beyond the technical resources of the fledgling theatre movement on the campus.

Disaster in Indianapolis Arena Recreated Here

"Walking wounded" come by truckload to hospital...

Here checked for "injury," explosion victims were high school students, civil defence volunteers.

Nurse Mary Harbottle, Dr. J. L. Andrews give quick aid.

Big Drill Goes Smoothly

By JACK FRY

The largest disaster drill of its kind ever held in B.C. saw hundreds of civil defence workers, nurses, doctors and observers spring into action last night when a make-believe explosion hit Memorial Arena. Ninety-four simulated wounded and dying victims poured into Royal Jubilee Hospital during the span of 65 minutes, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The civil defence scheme recreated the recent arena tragedy in Indianapolis. The nauseatingly realistic injured were brought in by emergency vehicles, ambulances, trucks and private cars.

Sorted Out

They were sorted out, according to the nature of their injuries, as fast as they came into the entrance lounge of the new wing, some 100 feet from the hospital's regular emergency department.

The most seriously injured were whisked by stretcher to the new, and as yet unused, operating room on the fifth floor, for immediate surgery.

Special Areas

Specialized treatment areas were scattered about the new wing for treatment of various types of injuries.

Although last night's drill has yet to be evaluated, Dr. A. A. Larsen, director of the provincial emergency health services, said the demonstration—witnessed by more than 60 Vancouver Island hospital delegates attending a two-day hospital disaster institute at the Empress Hotel—brought realism to the course.

Discharge Some

Michael Fraser, assistant administrator for the hospital, said that if such a disaster ever actually happens here "we would have to discharge some of the non-critically ill patients to make room for the victims."

The hospital's medical and surgical wards are operating on a 98 per cent occupancy and "steps would have to be taken to make room for seriously injured casualties," he said.

In a Hurry

"They're certainly putting them through in a hurry," said Coun. Joseph Casey, chairman of the hospital's board of directors, as he watched the medical staff process the injured.

Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, senior medical health officer of the Greater Victoria metropolitan board of health, said "the simulated injuries are so realistic it make you wonder."

He noted that "there is a good staff turnout and they are doing an enthusiastic job. If there was a real disaster, it would be handled quite efficiently."

Miss Evelyn Pepper, nursing consultant with the health and welfare department in Ottawa, said the drill went "exceedingly well, with no confusion."

City Committee Urges:

Barbers—No Change

Mayor to Ottawa For Harbor Talks

Mayor R. B. Wilson announced yesterday that he will meet federal and provincial representatives in Ottawa Dec. 17 to discuss a proposed joint program for development of Victoria's Inner Harbor. The mayor will be in the capital at that time for a meeting of the Canada Centennial Committee, to which he was recently appointed.

Ald. J. L. W. McLean voted against a finance committee recommendation passed yesterday to leave unchanged the present Wednesday closing bylaw for barbershops.

He termed "a red herring" the argument that throwing open of barbershop hours force one-man shops to stay open six days a week for 12 hours.

"We must face the fact that barbershops are here to meet the needs of the public and tourists," said Ald. McLean. He urged city council "not to take sides" in the current dispute.

STOPS SHORT

The committee stopped short of recommending to city council approval in principle of the B.C. Maritime Museum request to take over the old courthouse early in 1965.

Aldermen said they wanted to be sure that any other groups, who might be planning to make similar applications, had the opportunity to do so. Meanwhile the committee recommended city council open talks with museum directors on the financial aspects of the proposed move.

Legal advisers will be asked to investigate all possible means of protecting buildings from demolition in the Bastion Square redevelopment area.

An overall plan for the area is still in the early design stages, but aldermen have expressed concern over the possibility that the former board of trade building opposite the courthouse would be demolished to make way for a parking lot.

KEY STRUCTURE

The structure completed in 1892 is a key building in the square complex.

The committee, after making a further study of the fire-works question, decided to recommend that city council seek change in provincial legislation that would permit municipalities to reduce the present seven-day period for sale of fireworks before Halloween.

UNIFORM RULES

Mayor R. B. Wilson said the city should aim for regulations that would be uniform with Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt who, under another piece of legislation, limit sales of fireworks to 48 hours before midnight Oct. 31.

Library Group Sought

Each of the four Greater Victoria councils was asked yesterday by the intermunicipal committee to appoint a member to a fact-finding committee on Victoria Public Library. It will call on technical experts to determine how finances can be arranged so that Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt will qualify for voting privileges on library board.

Doctor's Bag, Drugs Stolen

A doctor's bag containing a quantity of drugs was stolen from a car in the St. Joseph's Hospital parking lot overnight Wednesday, city police said yesterday.

Dr. Vincent Smith, 237 King George Terrace, told police the bag contained small quantities of pethidine, morphine, tuinal and some 292 tablets.

Saanich Battle Shaping

Lum

Saanich motel owner and greenhouse operator Edward Lum announced last night he will contest the Saanich reeveship in the Dec. 5 municipal election.

The 25-year-old businessman, who was unsuccessful Social Credit candidate for Esquimalt-Saanich in the April 8 federal election, said he will devote full time to the reeveship, if necessary.

Mr. Lum lives at the Cherry Bond Motel, 4879 Patricia Bay Highway. He is married and the father of four children.

His nearly last-minute entry means that Reeve Stanley Murphy, seeking re-election for his second term, will have a fight on his hands.

Elsewhere on the Saanich election scene, Royal Oak Pharmacy owner Doug Crosby said last night he may run for a council seat, while Ronald Weir, incumbent Coun. Hugh Curtis, William Mattick and Lionel Speller have already filed their nomination papers.

NO BACKING

Mr. Lum let it be known he is an independent candidate with backing of no group in Saanich.

"There is a great deal of dissatisfaction with the present administration, and people want more attention given to their affairs," he said.

"You can't run a $5,000,000 corporation from behind a school desk. Engineers and office staff are there during the day and the present reeve cannot attend to the business at hand until after school hours."

FULL TIME

"If elected, I will spend as much time as necessary, even full time. It is about time that Saanich had a business approach to running the affairs of the municipality," he said.

Mr. Lum said that amalgamation is "a dead issue" and that "I am for building a greater Saanich—it has the potential." He expected to file his nomination papers either today or Monday.

Track Offer Made

A Victoria Gyra Club offer of $5,000 toward a quarter mile track at Oak Bay Junior Secondary School is being considered by Greater Victoria school trustees, it was learned this week.

Garbage Collection

Housewife Seeks Early Referendum

A housewife said yesterday she is starting a petition appealing for persons who urge Saanich council to put a weekly garbage collection referendum to the voters in the Dec. 5 municipal election.

Saanich officials recently considered the idea but left it in abeyance because of a lack of public interest and the fact that ratepayers are to vote in a referendum for a new municipal hall.

WILLING TO PAY

Mrs. Marty Christenson, 4213 Carey Road, said yesterday "thousands of people in Saanich would be willing to pay for weekly garbage collection" in place of the twice-monthly service they are now getting.

"There should be a referendum giving the people a chance to state whether or not they want weekly service," she said.

Mrs. Christenson, a house-

NEEDS HELP

"I can cover the Northridge subdivision myself but Saanich is a big municipality and I need help to make it successful."

"The people around here think Saanich councillors are afraid they would vote for garbage and not the hall. But council should put up both referendums because the people would vote for both," said Mrs. Christenson.

Jaycees Counting On Navy

Navy ships may play a big part in the Jaycees' Christmas lighting contest if the present plans can be cleared by navy brass.

Jaycees are hoping that Victoria's 15 navy ships from destroyers at minesweepers will be lighted and judged with the winner moored or anchored in the inner harbor.

Navy officials here and the Junior Chamber are awaiting the return from Ottawa of Rear Admiral W. M. Landynore, so the plans can be presented to him for a decision.

Councils Urged to Fight

Cox Warns Against Taking Over Bus System

Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee was told yesterday that municipalities should not accept defeat. There are a lot of votes in Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver areas.

He was strongly backed by Saanich Coun. Joseph Casey who pointed out that the present government will probably be up for re-election about the time the franchise runs out in four years.

Coun. Allan Cox representing Oak Bay said municipalities should fight any attempt by the government to dump the money-losing bus services.

"We should decide whether or not we're going to admit defeat," he said. "I say we should not accept defeat. There are a lot of votes in Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver areas."

He added: "If they go ahead and dump the systems onto municipalities with an election in the offing, the voters are going to lose a lot of votes here and in Vancouver and the Fraser Valley."

Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay said municipalities might find it in their best interests to subsidize the transit service "even to a small extent" rather than face much higher costs of building highways to carry ever-growing volume of traffic.

The committee finally agreed to let the four councils decide what action they would like to see on the transit question.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said the time was ripe to launch further discussions on the transit question. Both Coun. Cox and Coun. Casey, however, argued that the committee shouldn't approach the B.C. Hydro.

"We should go to the premier," said Coun. Cox.

Deficit in this year's transit operations here and on the lower mainland is estimated at about $3,000,000.

The committee finally agreed

Study Habits

If It Works
It's Good

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — If Junior's making good grades but tucks you by studying with his feet on the desk and the rest of him in a tilted chair—don't rock the boat by making him straighten the chair and plant feet on the floor.

Whatever his unorthodox way. If it works, it's probably a good study habit.

Who says so? Dr. Gerald Gladstein, associate professor of education at the University of Rochester.

He has been studying the relation of study techniques to academic success. He's found that there is no clear evidence that the study techniques commonly accepted as "good" apply to every youngster.

Moreover, says he, despite popular belief, students who use unconventional study methods may turn out as well as those who use currently recommended techniques.

"This is not because they're more intelligent," he said, "but simply because they've found the study methods that are most suitable for their particular personalities."

The educator said recent research indicates that a youngster's personality can influence his study behavior.

One type of student, for example, does best if he studies alone, has a fixed time and place for studying, and systematically reviews his notes in preparation for exams.

Such a student is likely to rely considerably on memorizing his material.

Another type studies more efficiently with others, particularly if he can discuss ideas and get other viewpoints. Typically, this type has been found to be more interested in feeling that he understands something than in memorizing facts.

The important thing for parents, teachers and counselors to remember, says Dr. Gladstein, is that there is no one "best" study method that all students should use.

What this means for students: A youngster who doesn't use "approved" study methods should not be made to feel guilty or inadequate—as long as his study techniques work and are appropriate for him.

Dr. Gladstein said parents and teachers ought to encourage youngsters to experiment with study techniques rather than to adhere rigidly to suggested methods.

What's more, when making suggestions about study, he advises parents and teachers to "Consider the student's personality as well as his abilities and his past achievements."

One of the most dramatic color schemes in decorating is fresh white with only one major color. Restful Delit blue was the choice in this cozy Early American setting. You can use your major color to strengthen architectural features, such as the woodwork and shutters here. The blue-painted hutch and captain's chairs are examples of the painted finishes available on furniture. Even the lamp and accessories are in the same blue. For accent, this scheme has brief touches of cranberry red in the flowers and glassware.

High Boots In Curly Hair Out

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Boots are in. Curly hair is out. The fur hat is in. The low-heeled walking shoe is out.

These are some of the ins and outs of style currently reflected by the women who fill New York showrooms of fashion manufacturers this time of the year. They're the buyers by the thousands, the models, the reporters and the sprinkling of celebrities who are jamming the showrooms to see spring and summer clothes for milady. The shows continue through this week; the clothes will begin to appear in the stores across the nation after the first of the year.

The boots are not the conventional rainwear. They're the mid-calf or nearly knee-highs designed to wear as shoes and not necessarily to keep the feet dry on a rainy day.

They're in with the younger-looking buyers and in with Barbara Streisand, the young singing success, who showed at the Maurice Rentner collection wearing brown crocodile boots reaching just below the knee.

To go with the boots, Miss Streisand wore a bulky, wrap-around fur coat plus matching fur chechia.

Miss Streisand said the coat was a copy of the type the dancer Vera Zvonina made famous in her movie dancing days of another era; the chechia is a brimless, cylindrical hat whose style is of Arabian origin.

And what was the long-haired fur?

"Why should I tell you," said the singing star, "when everyone thinks it's sable?"

Guess of the non-expert on fur varieties: it was fisher.

Fur hats, with cloth coats, are in with many of the buyers. Favorite hat furs are mink or the spotted leopards and ocelots. In with the buyers also is the return to higher heels which outpace the sleek walking shoe of last year by a wide margin.

Out for the models (and ultimately out for the rest of us because these girls are harbingers of fashion) is curly hair. All of the mannequins are wearing straight and casual bobs that look more like copies of a Caroline Kennedy hairdo. Most of the straight bobs are parted on one side with the ends trimmed to a neat horizontal line falling one to two inches below the ear. Only curl is the half-moon flip of a lock brought forward on the cheek.

Son's Wedding

Mother Phones from Scotland

At a ceremony in St. Andrew's Cathedral recently Miss Leona Katherine Rutich exchanged vows and rings with Mr. Michael Neil McGuire. Father William Hill celebrated the nuptial mass for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rutich, 3160 Wascana Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. McGuire, 134 St. Lawrence Street.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor-length gown fashioned with white lace bodice, studded with crystal and pearl beads, lily point sleeves and a garland of roses cascading from the waistline at the front to the back of the full skirt. A crown of crystal beads held her full shoulder-length veil and she carried red roses.

Mrs. H. Lacey, matron of honor, and Misses Sue Basanta and Cheryl Rossum wore dresses of red velvet styled with scoop necklines and three-quarter sleeves. Their headpieces were of red net and a single red rose and their fan-shaped bouquets were of white carnations. Flower girls, Carol Lacey and Lori Kozak, nieces of the bride.

Women's Guild of St. John's Anglican Church will meet Monday, Nov. 25, at 2:30 p.m. in the lower hall.

PERSONAL MENTION

This evening will be a big night in the lives of nine attractive young ladies, the Misses Robin Burns, Gail Rawnsley, Suzanne Smith, Robyn McGowan, Daphne McLaughlin, Diane MacGregor, Caroline Oveymann, Pat Tannock, and Terri Hutchison, who will make their debut to society at the annual military ball of the United Services Institution of Vancouver Island, to be held at the Empress Hotel. Highlight of the evening for the debutantes will be their formal presentation to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Peakes at the ball. Escorting the debutantes will be Cadet Officers Robert Hayes, Don Sharkey, Evan Petty-Jones, Jim Hutton, Douglas Mott, Terry Senft, Gerry Stark and Mr. Terry Smith and Mr. Ted Torikka.

Wedding Dec. 21

Mr. and Mrs. William D. B. Muntion, 3143 Earl Grey Street, announce the forthcoming marriage of their second daughter, Bonnie Evangeline, to Mr. Michael Richard Morgan, son of Mrs. A. Desrochers, Port Alberni, and the late Mr. Percy Victor Morgan. The wedding will take place Saturday, Dec. 21, at 2 p.m. in Centennial United Church with Rev. S. Parsons officiating.

Honored on 97th Birthday

Mrs. Elizabeth Williams was honored on her 97th birthday by her many friends, at a reception and tea at Mount St. Mary, where she has been a resident for the past 15 years. Among the special guests were Sister Mary Olive and the nursing sisters.

Nurse to Marry

Mrs. F. E. Worthy, 1826 Belmont Avenue, announces the engagement of her daughter, Martha Agnes, to Mr. John Clifford Easter, son of Rev. G. R. Easter of Preston, Ont., formerly of Victoria, and the late Mrs. Easter. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Dec. 14, at First Baptist Church. Miss Worthy is a graduate of the 1958 class of the Royal Jubilee Hospital School of Nursing. Mr. Easter is a graduate in arts and education from the University of Manitoba, presently teaching in Nigeria.

Pictured at their wedding reception in Oak Bay Beach Hotel following their marriage in October at Christ Church Cathedral are Sub-Lt. and Mrs. K. R. Scotten. Bride is the former Lynne Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Marsh, 1410 Fairfield Road. Groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Martin Scotten, St. James, Manitoba.—(Chapman)

Salt Spring WI

Officers Elected

FULFORD—Mrs. D. Slingsby was re-elected president of the South Salt Spring Island Women's Institute at the annual meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. W. H. Low.

Mrs. V. Grant was welcomed back after an absence of several months. Letters from the District Board and Unitarian Service were read and conveners' reports given.

Mrs. A. Davis conducted the election of officers. Re-elected for the coming year were: Mrs. R. Lee, vice-president; Mrs. Grant, secretary; Miss V. Salliss, treasurer; and Mrs. A. McManus, director. Conveners appointed were: Mrs. Davis, agriculture; Mrs. McManus, health and welfare; Mrs. M. Gyves, citizenship; Miss Salliss, cultural; Mrs. R. Lee, home economics; Mrs. Grant, United Nations; and Miss Bea Hamilton, public relations.

List of the new officers for the South Vancouver Island District Board was read, as follows: Mrs. A. Ingram, past president; and Mrs. E. Robinson, president, both of Victoria; Mrs. H. G. BPW Club Honors Birthday

Crests of the provinces displayed on cards, the crest motif on the napkins, and bowls of chrysanthemums and autumn leaves added a touch of gaiety when the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club celebrated the 33rd birthday of the Canadian Federation of BPW Clubs, at the War Amps Hall, Oak Bay Avenue.

Guests at the head table, introduced by President Mrs. V. Wade were Miss Elizabeth Forbes, a past national vice-president; Mrs. L. Welham, a past club president; Mrs. E. Webster, first vice-president; Mrs. E. McKay, second vice-president; Mrs. L. Wright, membership chairman, and new members Mrs. Gladys Peterson, Mrs. Irene Warren, Mrs. Doris Watton, and Mrs. M. Y. Wickens, who is a transfer from Toronto.

Miss Forbes proposed the toast to the Canadian Federation. The impressive candlelight initiation ceremony was conducted by Mrs. Wade, assisted by Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Webster and Mrs. McKay. It was followed by an interpretation of the emblem by Mrs. Welham.

Newlyweds To Live In Calgary

Victoria shared interest with Calgary in the recent wedding which took place in the Alberta city uniting in marriage Verban Einn Bales and Mr. William James Whitney Cathro.

Rev. H. Reid officiated at the double ring ceremony at North Hill United Church. Mrs. Robert Warren was organist.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bales, Est-on, Sask., and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cathro, 2448 Dunlevy Street, Victoria.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an exquisite gown of silk tulle styled with semi-bellied skirt and fitted bodice, enhanced with Alencon lace. Matching lace edged a fly-away train which was held in place at the shoulders by tiny bows. A full-length bouffant veil of silk illusion tulle misted from a dainty floral tiara of crystals and pearls. Red roses were in her bouquet.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Glen Hallahan, was matron of honor, and another sister, Miss Verlie Bales, bridesmaid.

They wore red velvet gowns, fashioned on princess lines, tanning shoes, white feathered hats and white gloves. Their bouquets were white carnations, centred in red.

Mr. Clyde Bogel, Victoria, was best man and ushering guests were Glen Halahan, Rich-lea, Sask., and David Cathro, Calgary.

Richard Haskayne proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in the Regal Golf Club.

For a honeymoon trip to Waterton Lakes, Radium and Banff, the bride changed into a gold and white knit suit with brown accessories and white gardenia corsage.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Cathro are now making their home in Calgary.

Ritual Ceremony Follows Banquet

J. Ronald Kingham, guest speaker at the annual banquet of Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority held Wednesday evening at the Victoria Golf Club, gave an interesting talk on Japan. He took his audience on a leisurely word-tour of the Asiatic country as he described the customs and people he and his wife remembered from a visit to Japan last spring.

Miss Doris Hooper, city council president, introduced the speaker and Mrs. M. Rogers extended thanks on behalf of the assembled guests.

"Reach for the Stars" was the theme of the gala affair. Programs sparkling with tiny golden stars and roses in gold tines decorated the head table. Miss Hooper was chairman for the evening and seated with her at the head table were: Mrs. Pat Johnson, City Council vice-president, Miss Elizabeth Forbes, City Council member; Mr. Kingham, Mrs. M. Goodwin, Miss Louise Michaux, Mrs. W. Bonnell and Mrs. K. Reid, presidents of Xi Nu, Preceptor Alpha, Xi Beta and Xi Xi Chapters.

Toast to the Queen was proposed by Mrs. Goodwin and a toast to the new Exemplars who were initiated following the banquet was given by Mrs. J. Donaldson.

Mrs. D. Gibson, a member of Xi Zeta Chapter, Calgary, accompanied by Mrs. B. Brown.

Mrs. Reid officiated at the Exemplar Ritual when Mrs. Lynn Mills, Mrs. Rita Frenette, Miss Audrey Mae Kelly and Mrs. Doreen Standbrook were welcomed as new members.

CWL Bazaar At Esquimalt

In spite of the inclement weather, a successful bazaar was held by the Queen of Peace Council, C.W.L. The Parish Hall at 849 Old Esquimalt Road was gay with autumn leaves, and a brisk business was carried on at the various stalls.

In charge were: needlework, Mrs. N. Hall, Mrs. M. Koktan, Mrs. P. Slaney, fishpond, Mrs. S. Roozendaal; lucky seven, Mrs. G. Malenfant, A. Bethell; candy, Mrs. W. Edgington, H. Jordens; home cooking, Mrs. J. Warburton, Mrs. K. Kenyon, Mrs. P. Stearn, E. Barnabe; thrift, Mrs. A. Smith, Mrs. C. Macklin; Mrs. R. Stirling had charge of a beautiful baby doll, and tombola prizes were handled by Mrs. H. Bruch and Mrs. A. McCuaig.

Tea was convened by Mrs. A. Dickie, assisted by Mrs. R. Wakelin, Mrs. J. McGrath, Miss E. Gowan. Bingo in the evening was handled by the men of the parish under Mr. Edgington. General convener was Mrs. W. J. Sullivan, Council president.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a high school junior who lives in a small town in Nebraska. All my life I have heard that country kids are dumb and city kids are smart. The expression "small town rube" and "hick from the sticks" illustrate the point.

Well, a few weeks ago I went to New York with my family to attend my grandfather's funeral. For the first time I got to know my New York and New Jersey cousins. These kids are all about my age and they have lived in big cities all their lives. One of the girls did not know that milk comes from cows. She said she always thought milk was manufactured.

When I told her I used to milk cows when we lived on the farm she said, "I once heard something about that but I couldn't figure out how a cow could sit on those little bottles."

Please, Ann Landers, print this letter for all the small town kids who think their city cousins know so much more than they do. Since that trip I'm feeling a whole lot smarter.

NEBRASKA BRAIN
Dear Brain: Someone very wise once said, "We are ALL ignorant — on different subjects."

I'd hate to tell you how old I was before I learned that a hen could lay eggs without the help of a rooster. And I was born and raised in Iowa.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is about as close to perfect as a man can be. I'm a very lucky woman. His only fault, Ann, is that he has a habit of writing cheques when he has no money in the bank. Almost every week I get a telephone call from a business firm and somebody says "Your husband's cheque was returned to us today marked insufficient funds."

I reply, "There must be a mistake at the bank. Please send the cheque through again. I'm sure it will clear." Then I scurry around and borrow from a friend or a relative which I pay back out of my husband's next cheque.

The maddening part of it all is that my husband never bothers to subtract from the balance when he writes a cheque. Yet he is always shocked to hear he is overdrawn. How can he possibly know what his balance is when he doesn't do the arithmetic?

Any suggestions? I'm beside myself. — MRS. T. S. F.

Dear Mrs.: Offer to relieve your husband of the nuisance of writing cheques and paying bills. If he refuses, direct all those telephone calls to him and let him scurry around covering the clinkers. After a few such experiences he'll probably hand over the job with pleasure.

Dear Ann Landers: My daughter's friend will be leaving school for the service. He is 23 and Penny is 20. They've been dating two months. He wants to give her an engagement ring before he leaves.

Penny says she loves him and is willing to wait. I hate to see any young girl tie herself up for two years. Penny has always been a sensible person and she will not accept the ring unless I give my consent.

I would hate to wreck my daughter's life by giving her bad advice. Please tell me what you think about this.

SERVICE BOUND
Dear Bound: It's foolish for a girl to sit around waiting for two years after two months courtship.

By dating others both Penny and her boy friend will give themselves a fair shake. If it's really love they'll have no trouble picking up the threads when he comes home.

AMY

By Harry Mace

"I realize I can't take it with me, but I'm not GOING anywhere for a while."

It delivers its message in 60 seconds.

In the next day or so, you may learn something new about the taste of rye whisky.

A gentle whisky. The taste is light, warm, smooth.

You will find you have never known a whisky with a taste like this.

And you may find yourself changing your mind about whiskies.

The whisky in the hourglass bottle does that. The message comes through. Not loud. But clear.

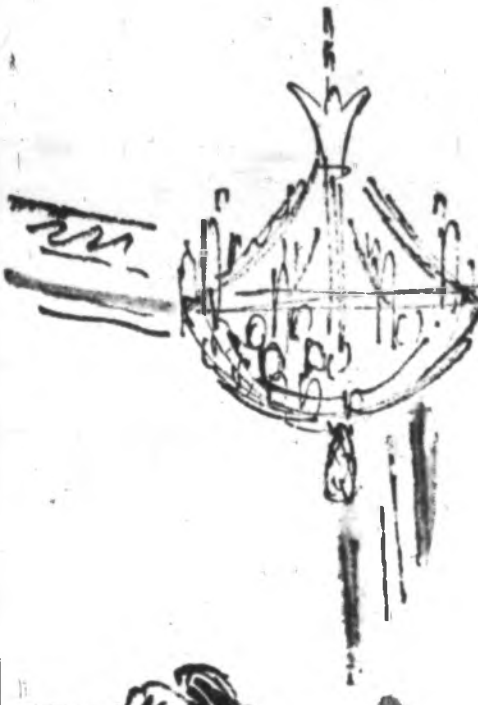

60 seconds. Time enough.

Main north, southbound traffic. Light arrows indicate left turns on light when there is demand. Timing of three phases will be electronically-controlled according to traffic flow. Arrows indicate moving traffic.

Easy access for northbound traffic to Gorge Road will be via this second phase movement covering Government Street traffic. Main stream will continue north on Douglas but some traffic will go east on Hillside Avenue.

Left turns on third phase east-west movement may be restricted at certain times, traffic officials said, if experience shows they create too many problems. New light system is expected to be in operation by end of month.

Closing Bars Preferable To Car Tests—Gagliardi

Highways Minister Gagliardi would sooner have prohibition in B.C. than order universal automobile inspection. His statement came a short time after a B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation delegation asked the cabinet for province-wide testing stations.

Driving Charges Queried

VANCOUVER (CP) — The police commission plans to investigate a policy of the police department of laying dangerous driving charges against out-of-the-province drivers caught speeding.

Commissioner George C. Robson said Thursday the commission has not yet set a date for the discussion. The matter came to light when it was disclosed that disciplinary action was ordered against a veteran traffic officer who laid a dangerous driving charge against a visiting motorist caught speeding.

NO SPEEDING ARRESTS

Under the British Columbia Motor Vehicle Act, police cannot arrest motorists on a simple charge of speeding. It has been disclosed that five years ago the then chief constable, the traffic superintendent and the city prosecutor agreed to lay dangerous driving charges to prevent speeders from leaving the province without paying a penalty.

A driver charged with dangerous driving can be taken to the police station and asked to post bail, usually $25.

If he leaves the province he forfeits the bail. If he appears in court the charge is usually reduced to speeding.

"We know that only around one per cent of accidents are caused by faulty vehicles, compared with 70 or 80 per cent where it is the driver and drinking."

"Before we spend hundreds of thousands of dollars on inspection to eliminate one per cent of the accidents I'd sooner close down all the beer parlors and the bars to solve 80 per cent."

The minister's opposition to testing facilities came as a surprise, because B.C. Motor Vehicle Superintendent George Lindsay only a short time ago disclosed that a system of mobile testing units was under study. He indicated they might go into operation next year.

End-of-Month Start

Watch Signs, Signals At New Intersection

City traffic officials have a word of advice for motorists when the new intersection, replacing Fountain Circle, goes into full operation at the end of this month.

To avoid confusion, officials said, watch carefully for directional signs and obey the traffic signal lights for your lane. Some delays are inevitable during the first few weeks of operation of the new signal system which is controlled by an electronic device that constantly measures traffic flow in all directions and adjusts timing of the signals accordingly.

Experience elsewhere has shown it will probably take up to three months before the equipment is working at maximum efficiency.

But with minor snags that can be foreseen with the aid of a mockup model already ironed out, officials said, there should be an immediate and marked improvement in traffic flow.

There are three main phases of light operation: for north and southbound traffic on Douglas and southbound traffic on Government, northbound traffic on Government, and east-west traffic on Gorge and Hillside.

The first phase, covering the heaviest north-south movement, will have provision at the beginning for left turns on the green arrow off Douglas to both Hillside and Gorge.

This initial period, during which through traffic on Douglas and Government will be stopped, will be bypassed by the controller when there are no vehicles in the respective left-hand turn lanes.

The second phase, covering northbound traffic on Government, will allow free movement of vehicles to Douglas, Hillside and Gorge.

Officials themselves have some reservations about the initial plan for the east-west traffic movement, covered by phase three.

At present this will permit left and right turns without any special provisions. But officials have indicated that if this freedom creates too many problems turning movements will be restricted during certain periods.

Pedestrian wait-walk signs at the intersection will be actuated by pressing a button.

Molested, Then Strangled Girl Man Told Police in Confession

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A statement which said a 30-year-old man admitted he molested a 12-year-old girl then strangled her, was admitted as evidence in Assize Court here Thursday.

Kenneth Lloyd Meeker of Kimberley, charged with capital murder in the death of Alice Mathers, was quoted in the statement as saying the attack took place in a gravel pit near Mission, 20 miles east of here.

The schoolgirl disappeared from her Mission home June 9 and was found in the gravel pit June 24.

Sgt. E. D. Anderson, of the RCMP detachment at Kimberley, said Meeker gave the statement July 2. The statement was admitted as evidence after a trial within a trial.

The statement gave this story:

Meeker was driving along the road when he stopped to pick up the girl. She would not get in but he grabbed her and put her in. He took her to the gravel pit, stripped her and molested her.

The girl started to scream and he strangled her with his hands.

He was afraid she wasn't dead so he took a rope out of his car and held it around her neck until her face turned blue.

He carried the girl into the bush and put back her clothing, all but her sweater.

The statement quoted Meeker as saying: "I was by myself. I murdered her."

But questioned by S. Sgt. Anderson, Meeker said he wanted to change that statement and that his brother Leonard was with him and he grabbed the girl first.

James Leonard Meeker, 35, has pleaded guilty to having unlawful intercourse with the girl.

Garden Notes

Nothing's Hopeless

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

While our part of the country is without doubt the most favored spot for gardening in the whole of Canada, it is well to remember that we have our problem spots, too. There are plenty of low-lying areas which become frost pockets in the spring, where buds and flowers of early blooming shrubs are seared, and where the blossoms of fruit trees are often nipped by late frosts and fail to set fruit.

We have our districts, too, where soil drainage is poor. Water lies heavily on the land through the winter months, drowning the roots of our choice plants. And we have waterfront locations where high winds and salt spray restricts the choice of plants which can be grown successfully. These problem spots are difficult but never hopeless — there is always an answer to every challenge.

One stunt I have seen used successfully on soggy, poorly-drained land is to plant shrubs and fruit trees right on the surface, with no planting hole taken out at all. The roots are spread over the surface and a good soil mixture is mounded up over them with of course, really efficient staking to hold the trees steady. These trees were thriving and fruiting quite well even though the ground was covered with puddles of water through most of the winter.

In areas subject to late spring frosts, it is best to stick to subjects of indisputable hardiness. A few good shrubs which can take anything our weather can dish out are Philadelphus with its sweetly-scented white blossoms, Weigela in pinks and reds, the ever-growing Forsythia intermedia spectabilis, Deutzia candidissima which is very strong-growing and attractive, and Ribes sanguineum, the Flowering Currant, an excellent windbreak and low hedge for cold, bleak locations.

A salt-resistant windbreak is the best answer to the stormy waterfront garden. Two very good shrubs for this purpose are Atriplex halimus with attractive silvery grey foliage and, Escallonia langleyensis which covers itself with tiny pink bell-flowers.

This is the season of the year when the best shrubs really come into their own, and this is just a reminder to suggest that more of these attractive specimens should be planted here and there in the garden. My bushes of Cotoneaster horizontalis, stretching their herringbone branches flat against our house wall, are bejewelled with their bead-like scarlet berries. The fruits must be bitter or unappetizing to the birds, for they are never touched until other food becomes scarce.

The Firethorn, too, is ablaze with orange berries, and I am hoping our feathered friends will leave enough of them to provide a few cut branches for Christmas decoration.

Probably the most reliable of all the berryed shrubs are the Barberries, for these don't give a hoot what kind of soil they are planted in, nor whether they face north, south, east or west. Their blossoms put on a grand display in the spring, their berries turn in the winter, and some varieties turn their leaves a brilliant scarlet in the fall — three shows for the price of one!

FRANK TUMPANE Sneers at Old Myth

Do-It-Yourself Cold Comfort

By FRANK TUMPANE

I wish the Health League of Canada would mind its own business and stop trying to undermine my confidence in my ability to handle the common cold.

Every year, about this time, I assume my most resolute expression, gather my remedies around me, and prepare to cope with the malady that incapacitates people of lesser determination. I am full of confidence in my ability to get the better of the common cold, and none of your mealy-mouthed quiet confidence, either. My confidence runs to the loud, boastful type.

Not long ago, as I prepared to take my annual defensive position against this blight, I came across a bulletin put out by the Health League which said, unequivocally: "In spite of the great advances in the field of medicine and science, no one has come up with a cure for the common cold."

You should have seen me sneer as I read that. "Hah," I said, "perpetuating that old myth again, eh? The trouble with those medical boys is that they don't know my method."

Their next statement, however, was the one that caused me irrefragable psychological damage. "A lot of us," it said, "will spend money for pills, sprays, shots, and cure-alls, but whatever your remedy — it will still take one week to get rid of a cold if you treat it and seven days for it to run its course if you leave it alone."

It so happens that I take pills to prevent colds, but if they should happen to fail and I start to sneeze, I fall back on several other prepared positions. In the first place, I find that lathering my self into a frantic state of hypochondria is very helpful.

When I do when I find a cold coming on is to sneeze several times as loudly as I can to attract attention to my condition. The right environment of sympathetic concern is absolutely essential, I've discovered.

"Oh," people say when I sneeze "you're catching a cold."

That's the cue for me to be brave and nonchalant about the whole thing. "Oh, I don't know," I say. "I can generally manage to fight them off."

This invariably excites admiration among the ladies. What courage! I can hear them exclaiming to themselves. What an indomitable figure of a man! (When the mood is upon me, I can read people's thoughts in exclamation marks!)

Once by myself, of course, I subside into a blue funk. I dash to the nearest mirror and peer at myself, thinking about how awful I look. Then I get out several bottles and swallow the contents of some, spray myself from others, finishing my gargling furiously, making as much noise as possible, to scare off the evil spirits.

Then I go to bed and if I'm lucky, when I wake up in the morning, my cold has gone. If I'm not lucky, it hasn't.

That's my method and I don't like those stuck-up medical people butting in on it, either. If I have to have a cold, the least medical science can do is to let me get some satisfaction from it.

TV or Not TV

Entertaining Maid Upsets the Survey

WASHINGTON — We have these friends we'll call the Shaws. The Shaws do not have television. They claim they don't miss it and they get a lot of reading done and listen to records and besides it's a great conversation piece when they go out to dinner to say they don't own a television set.

But they have a housekeeper and naturally they had to provide her with a television set or she would have left long ago.

The Shaws used to hear great giggling and laughter from their housekeeper's room and they assumed she got a lot of enjoyment out of her set.

But one night the phone rang and the woman on the other end said she was taking a survey and wanted to know what TV program they were watching.

"We don't have a set," Mrs. Shaw said.

"You mean there isn't a set in your entire house?"

Mrs. Shaw started to feel slightly guilty. "Well, my dear housekeeper has a set."

"What is she watching?"

"I don't really know," Mrs. Shaw said.

"Would you please find out for me?"

Mrs. Shaw told Mr. Shaw to go back to the housekeeper's room and find out what Beatrice was watching.

Mr. Shaw returned in a few moments.

"She's not exactly watching anything," Mr. Shaw said.

"But the set is on," Mrs. Shaw said. "I can hear it."

"Yes, that's true," said Mr. Shaw.

"What are you so mysterious about?"

"I think her boy friend is with her," Mr. Shaw said.

"Did you ask her what she was watching?" Mrs. Shaw said.

"I didn't have the heart to. When I opened the door the room was kind of dark and Beatrice was giggling and laughing. So I just shut the door again."

"I better go and see what is going on," Mrs. Shaw said.

"Here, you speak to the woman on the phone."

The woman on the phone demanded, "Have you found out what program your maid is watching?"

"We're not sure," Mr. Shaw said honestly. "As a matter of fact, we're not sure she ever has watched anything on television."

"Does she have her set on?"

"Yes, it's on, but the reception is rather fuzzy and nothing seems to come through very clearly."

"But surely you must know the name of the program?"

Mr. Shaw was starting to become annoyed with the woman.

"Madam, we're trying to give you an honest answer. This much I can tell you. The set is on, the maid is in the room, but when I was there she wasn't looking at it."

"What was she doing?"

"Madam, that is not part of your survey. You're only supposed to ask about television problems. Now if you will kindly wait, perhaps my wife will have a bulletin for us."

Mrs. Shaw returned.

"What's she watching?" Mr. Shaw wanted to know.

"She's watching her boy friend leave," Mrs. Shaw said angrily.

Mr. Shaw repeated on the phone, "Our maid is watching her boy friend leave."

"I don't believe there is such a show," the woman said.

"Well, come on over to our house," Mr. Shaw said, "and see for yourself."

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Exuberant Star Startles Rome

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Richard Harris had to leave the Hilton Hotel in Rome when he cavorted down the corridors, knocking at the doors of the cardinals, in Rome for the ecumenical conference. To make matters more jolly, Richard was wearing a red robe, so my informants tell me. The virile star of This Sporting Life has been in Rome filming The Red Desert. Ever since Cleopatra left, things have been a bit dull over there, so please excuse our hero.

In his forthcoming play Dylan, Sir Alec Guinness will be seen wrestling all over the stage with the girl who plays his wife. Director Peter Glenville was telling me the story which deals with the tempestuous last years of the Welsh poet. It sounded like a smash hit coming to Broadway in January.

Sir Carol Reed's daughter, Tracy Reed, the only lady in Dr. Strangelove, had a bid to be Playboy's playmate of the month. Dad gave her answer: No. He was pretty angry at her near-nude bikini scene in the picture. But girls will be nude these days and there is nothing daddy can do about it.

Oleg Cassini, who makes clothes for Mrs. Kennedy, has joined a girls' company as special consultant and takes a whirlwind worldwide tour next year to convince the ladies that it is just as important to look chic from the rear as from the front. What will they think of next?

British actor Kenneth More will bring a new bride, 22-year-old Angela Douglas, and a new image of himself as an actor, when he comes to New York early next year to film Breathe In. One, Two, Three. Ken is 48. He separated six months ago from his first wife. They had been married 11 years. The approach to 50 seems to be more dangerous for men than for women. I guess the little dears have to prove they are still attractive.

Jody McCrea set for Muscle Beach Party, following his hit in Beach Party. Father Joel McCrea seems to have given up movie making to live on the millions he has made in real estate. He never forgot the advice of his hero, Will Rogers, who told him, "Put your money in the land." Those are the big millionaires in Hollywood today. Irwin Dunne owns half of Ojai. Mae West has a big hunk of Van Nuys. Red Skelton has untold millions from his apartment houses. Corinne Griffith is landlord for every important corner in Beverly Hills. And what Corinne missed, Greta Garbo grabbed.

Vince Edwards signed to make three more pictures, with Columbia because of The Victors. Vince will star for them in Catch 22. And Orson Welles has asked to direct.

Bonner:

British System Doesn't Require Ombudsman Plan

People demanding a B.C. ombudsman should take a closer look at the British parliamentary system. Attorney-General Robert Bonner advised yesterday.

He was commenting on the latest round of controversy over a resolution passed earlier this month by the B.C. Social Credit League.

SCANDINAVIAN CONCEPT

His first reaction to it, several days ago, was that B.C.'s 52 MLAs are capable of fulfilling the function of ombudsmen—a Scandinavian concept where a single government appointee becomes a sort of court-of-last-resort for citizens who claim unfair treatment at the hands of the administration.

First Social Creditor to take issue publicly with the attorney-general was his Point Grey running mate, MLA-elect Prof. Ralph Loffmark of UBC's commerce department.

ENOUGH TO DO

Prof. Loffmark said Wednesday MLAs couldn't be ombudsmen because they couldn't always get information they sought and had enough to do already.

Mr. Bonner said he believed that through direct inquiry or by placing questions in the House, an MLA could find out anything he wanted about the government in relation to a citizen's complaint.

Added to this power was the power of a free press to right an injustice through the pressure of public opinion.

Mr. Bonner said it was significant that the ombudsman system had been born and had flourished outside the jurisdiction of British parliamentary procedure.

COULD BE PARTISAN

It could be argued, he continued, that an MLA might be partisan in fulfilling the role of ombudsman, but there was no guarantee that a government-appointed ombudsman would be non-partisan.

Special Job Too Rugged—Gagliardi

No man could physically survive the task of being B.C.'s "ombudsman," Highways Minister Gagliardi said yesterday. A similar role, but restricted to the field of forestry, had "killed Gordon Sloan," he added.

Mr. Sloan, a former chief justice of British Columbia, died in 1959 while holding the position of special adviser on forestry to the B.C. government.

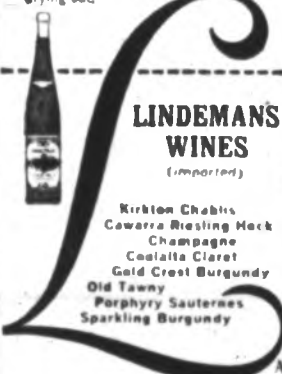

Mr. Gagliardi said that with certain reservations he was in favor of having an ombudsman.

The reservation, it turned out, was that he wanted to make a full study of the scheme.

He said the plan seemed superficially attractive, but that there must be another side to it which would bare certain disadvantages.

HOW TO STORE A GOOD WINE

LINDEMANS WINES... Australia's greatest wine prize winners... say all table wines should be stored on their sides, to prevent the corks from drying out.

All-Terylene Shirt is Worth Every Penny You Pay for It!

each 9⁹⁵

Here's why—it wears longer than a cotton shirt—up to four times as long! It never needs the careful ironing a cotton shirt requires—in fact, it never needs any! It won't shrink. Its single fused cuff and collar stay neat for the life of the shirt. It comes in all white or in white with blue, garnet, or brown stripes. Sizes 14's to 17, with measured sleeve lengths 32 to 35.

Get the Best of Two Fabrics In This 35%-Terylene Blend!

each 6⁹⁵

You get cotton's absorbency and comfort combined with Terylene's ease of care, long, long wear... It needs only the light touch of a warm iron, stays neat all day. Short point fused collar, convertible cuffs for buttons or cuff links. Plain white or solid blue, in sizes 14's to 17, measured sleeve lengths 32 to 35.

Introducing "Rep XV" Slacks!

pair 16⁹⁸

We took note of our most popular style features, the most asked-for qualities in slacks, and had them designed into a slack we call the "Rep XV"... We know you'll like the tapered cut, the belt-looped waist, the colors they come in—dark grey, medium grey, olive lovat, black, and charcoal-brown. And this new Terylene/wool blend is long-wearing, has the rich dressy appearance you've been wanting in slacks of this type. See them now at the Bay—ask for "Rep XV" slacks and get what you really want. For 29" to 36" waists.

Russian Jets Down Iran Plane, Two Die

TEHRAN (UPI) — Government officials, announcing a plane and two other military aircraft tracked it down and shot down an Iranian civil map surveying plane without warning at least 15 miles inside Iran, killing two persons aboard, and critically injuring the pilot.

Disclosure of Wednesday's attack by three Russian planes near the northeastern town of Darreh Gaz, came as visiting Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev was telling Iran's parliament in a speech that "good neighborly relations" exist between the two nations.

Officials said the twin-engine Iranian survey craft was on an aerial mapping mission inside the Iranian border when a Soviet MiG fighter plane opened machinegun fire on the Iranian plane, which caught fire and crashed at a point north of the Iranian town of Meshed, eyewitnesses said.

The Mig opened machinegun fire on the Iranian plane, which caught fire and crashed at a point north of the Iranian town of Meshed, eyewitnesses said.

Government officials said it had been "indubitably established" the plane was shot down at least 25 kilometres (15 miles) from the Soviet border.

The two Iranians killed were aerial map surveyors. The pilot was hurled about 30 yards from the burning plane. He was reported in "grave" condition last night.

Eyewitnesses said the three Soviet aircraft crossed the Iranian border and chased the Iranian plane.

'Ferocious' Police Dog!

RENO, Nevada (UPI) — When a Reno patrolman sent his ferocious police dog into a warehouse to flush a suspected burglar, out came a seven-year-old boy who reported the animal playfully licked his face.

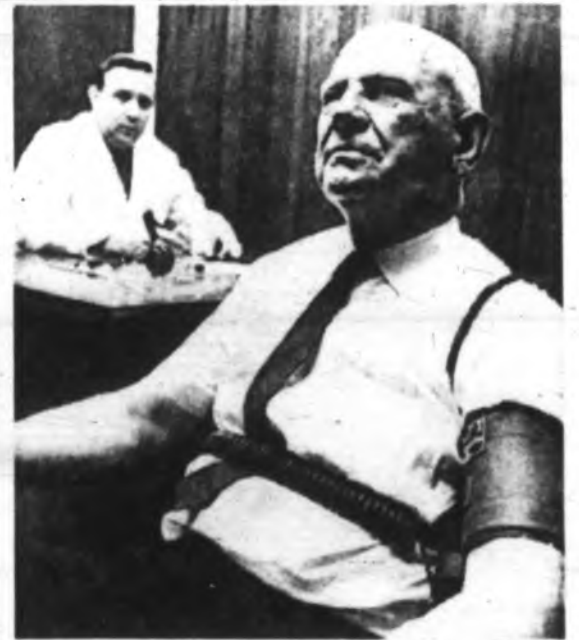

"I told him to go away, and he did," the youngster told the dismayed patrolman.

The six European governments which have indicated willingness in principle to stage the unprecedented trial are Belgium, Britain, West Germany, Greece, Italy and Turkey. The

Alcatraz Birdman Dies

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — Robert Stroud, a convicted murderer whose study of bird diseases earned him the nickname Birdman of Alcatraz, died yesterday in a prison hospital after 54 years of penitentiary confinement. He was 73.

Warden J. D. Harris of the U.S. Medical Centre for federal prisoners said Stroud died unexpectedly in his sleep.

The self-educated linguist, amateur lawyer and internationally known authority on bird life succumbed to "the infirmities of age," said Harris in a statement.

Stroud won fame when he compiled a monumental work

U.S. Doctors Accused By Labor

NEW YORK (AP) — The AFL-CIO charged the American Medical Association Wednesday with distributing a phoney record misrepresenting a United Steelworkers Union official as a tough-talking labor leader who threatens union members to collect political funds.

AFL-CIO President George Meany announced that the Steelworkers official, Paul Normile of Pittsburgh, has filed a $400,000 damage suit against the AMA in federal court in Washington.

Normile, at a press conference, said he never made such a speech.

The record, played at the Steelworkers' press conference, represents Normile as telling a group of labor leaders that the Steelworkers' District 16, must "kick in" $146,000 to the committee on political education, the AFL-CIO's political arm, to fight for medical-care legislation in the U.S. Congress.

Nanaimo Boat Basin Not Yet Dead Issue

NANAIMO—Hopes that Nanaimo's small boat basin project will go ahead were revived yesterday when new information received from an authoritative source in Ottawa indicated that the matter was far from being dead.

The information indicates that the item will in all probability be included in Ottawa's 1964-65 estimates, with a good chance of approval and action.

IN ESTIMATES

The basin project has been before treasury on three occasions in 1963, and each time it was sent back for further investigation and explanation. Such information has now been provided and the matter will again come up before treasury this year when the total estimates for 1963 are reviewed.

Estimated costs of the proposed boat basin project are in the neighborhood of $850,000. Of this, $300,000 would come from Ottawa and the remaining $550,000 would be the responsibility of the Nanaimo Harbor Board.

Nanaimo aldermen are optimistic that the project will receive approval in 1964 and that work can then get underway.

Albernis' Winter Job Picture On Par with That of 1962

TOFINO—Rev. John W. Leighton, padre of Branch 65 Royal Canadian Legion here since 1955 and a man known to thousands all over the world, was presented with a life membership in the Legion at a recent banquet here.

Padre Leighton was rector of St. Columba Anglican Church in Tofino until his retirement two years ago, and has continued to live in this West Coast community.

Since 1955 he had worked as a Legion member, holding several offices.

MISSION CHAPLAIN

During the Second World War Mr. Leighton was chaplain to the Mission for Seamen in Vancouver. In that capacity he visited, with his dog Kim, every ship entering the port during the war, and wrote countless letters to families of the men he saw.

He was himself a veteran of the First World War, and throughout his life has taken an interest in the veteran, his dependents, his interests and his needs.

The Legion branch here applied for a life membership for the padre and it was issued by the Dominion Command—the highest recognition of service possible.

The Vancouver Island Hotel Stein Bredders' Association will hold its annual meeting Saturday in the Tidewater Motel at Nanaimo.

Workshop To Help Indians?

PORT ALBERNI—A workshop to promote employment for local Indians and to provide souvenirs for tourists was proposed by Ald. Les Hammer at a winter employment committee meeting here.

He said there is a need to organize the production of native crafts if the Indians are to make an income from their work.

Tofino had made inquiries in men could be hired through regards to getting a program the local office, making their under way. Hepatitis Inoculation Slated at Castlegar CASTLEGAR (C.P.)—All residents of this community of 2,300 will be inoculated against infectious hepatitis.

Dr. James McAnulty said Thursday that three children and two adults now have been infected with the liver disease.

He said he hopes that by Dec. 3, the date when voters will decide on a sewer referendum, everyone will have been protected.

The referendum has been defeated twice.

Dr. McAnulty said about 600 questionnaires were circulated recently and voters were asked to comment on their sewage problems.

"Bath water must be carried by bucket."

Of the returned completed forms, 46 per cent were in favor of the installation of sanitary sewers for the village.

Disaster in Indianapolis Arena Recreated Here

"Walking wounded" come by truckload to hospital...

Here checked for "injury," explosion victims were high school students, civil defence volunteers.

Big Drill Goes Smoothly

By JACK FRY

The largest disaster drill of its kind ever held in B.C. saw hundreds of civil defence workers, nurses, doctors and ob- servers spring into action last night when a make-believe explosion hit Memorial Arena.

The civil defence scheme re-created the recent arena tragedy in Indianapolis. The nauseatingly realistic injured were brought in by emergency vehicles, am- bulances, trucks and private cars.

Sorted Out

They were sorted out, according to the nature of their injuries, as fast as they came into the entrance lounge of the new wing, some 100 feet from the hospital's regular emergency department.

The most seriously injured were whisked by stretcher to the new, and as yet unused, operating room on the fifth floor, for immediate surgery.

Special Areas

Specialized treatment areas were scattered about the new wing for treatment of various types of injuries.

Although last night's drill has yet to be evaluated, Dr. A. A. Larsen, director of the provincial emergency health services, said the demonstration—witnessed by more than 60 Vancouver Island hospital delegates attending a two-day hospital disaster institute at the Empress Hotel—brought realism to the course.

Discharge Some

The hospital's medical and surgical wards are operating on a 98 per cent occupancy and "steps would have to be taken to make room for seriously injured casualties," he said.

In a Hurry

"They're certainly putting them through in a hurry," said Coun. Joseph Casey, chairman of the hospital's board of medical staff process the injured.

Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, senior medical health officer of the Greater Victoria metropolitan board of health, said "the simulated injuries are so realistic it make you wonder."

He noted that "there is a good staff turnout and they are doing an enthusiastic job. If there was a real disaster, it would be handled quite efficiently."

Miss Evelyn Pepper, nursing consultant with the health and welfare department in Ottawa, said the drill went "exceedingly well, with no confusion."

Nurse Mary Harbottle, Dr. J. L. Andrews give quick aid.

Bastion Battle Gathers Steam

VANCOUVER (CP)—A temporary injunction which prohibits Nanaimo's Post No. 3 of Native Sons of British Columbia from dealing with the historic waterfront bastion was granted in Supreme Court Thursday by Mr. Justice F. K. Collins.

The injunction is good until Nov. 29. It was obtained by Grand Post of the Native Sons.

The post seeks to prevent the Nanaimo Post from dealing "in any way" with the bastion and its collection of Indian relics and antiques.

The grand lodge will ask the Supreme Court for a declaration that V. B. Harrison, Dr. D. E. Fox, John Loudon, G. D. Weeks, R. W. Dickinson, E. H. Gough, and the executor of the estate of J. E. L. Muir are not properly installed officials of Post No. 3, and have no authority to represent the post.

The grand lodge will ask for a declaration that the properly installed officers should be Norman Risewell, Leslie Mottishaw, Al Addison, J. Hamilton, Victor Brown, Gordon Cook, William Grant, Cliff Haslam and J. Kinkman.

More School Buses Urgently Needed Trustees Advised

NANAIMO—At a meeting of the Nanaimo school board Wednesday night, trustee Waddie Manion told the board that school bus services were strained to the limit and that two more buses were urgently needed to lessen student waiting time at changeovers, reduce the supervision problem and improve present pick-up schedules.

Mr. Manion moved that one additional bus be chartered at once. This motion was approved by the board.

VOTE AUTHORIZED

Orders-in-council authorizing the holding of a vote in the coming referendum were read by Secretary-Treasurer J. W. Strong, from Mt. Benson, McPherrin. Returning officers and polling clerks have been appointed at 16 points in the school district. Mr. McPherrin informed the board, and they will be paid $20 and $15 a day, respectively, with $2.50 meal allowance.

Housewife Seeks Early Referendum

A housewife said yesterday she is starting a petition appealing for persons who using Saanich council to put a weekly garbage collection referendum to the voters in the Dec. 5 municipal election. Saanich officials recently considered the idea but left it in abeyance because of a lack of public interest and the fact that ratepayers are to vote next month on a referendum for a new municipal hall.

WILLING TO PAY

Mrs. Marty Christianson, 4213 Carey Road, said yesterday "thousands of people in Saanich would be willing to pay for weekly garbage collection in place of the twice-monthly service they are now getting. There should be a referendum giving the people a chance to state whether or not they want weekly service," she said.

NEEDS HELP

"I can cover the Northridge subdivision myself but Saanich is a big municipality and I need help to make it a success. The people around here are afraid they would vote for garbage and not the hall. But council should put up both referendums because the people would vote for both," said Mrs. Christianson.

Ald. J. L. W. McLean voted against a finance committee recommendation passed yesterday to leave unchanged the present Wednesday closing bylaw for barbershops.

He termed "a red herring" the argument that throwing open of barbershop hours force one-man shops to stay open six days a week for 12 hours.

"We must face the fact that barbershops are here to meet the needs of the public and tourists," said Ald. McLean. He urged city council "not to take sides" in the current dispute.

STOPS SHORT

The committee stopped short of recommending to city council approval in principle of the B.C. Maritime Museum request to take over the old courthouse early in 1965.

Aldermen said they wanted to be sure that any other groups, who might be planning to make similar applications, had the opportunity to do so. Meanwhile the committee recommended city council open talks with museum directors on the financial aspects of the proposed move.

PROTECT BUILDINGS

Legal advisers will be asked to investigate all possible means of protecting buildings from demolition in the Bastion Square redevelopment area.

An overall plan for the area is still in the early design stages, but aldermen have expressed concern over the possibility that the former board of trade building opposite the courthouse would be demolished to make way for a parking lot.

The structure completed in 1892 is a key building in the square complex.

The committee, after making a further study of the fire-works question, decided to recommend that city council seek change in provincial legislation that would permit municipalities to reduce the present seven-day period for sale of fireworks before Halloween.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said the city should aim for regulations that would be uniform with Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt who, under another piece of legislation, limit sales of fireworks to 48 hours before midnight Oct. 31.

Library Group Sought

Each of the four Greater Victoria councils was asked yesterday by the intermunicipal committee to appoint a member to a fact-finding committee on Victoria Public Library. It will call on technical experts to determine how finances can be arranged so that Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt will qualify for voting privileges on library board.

Doctor's Bag, Drugs Stolen

A doctor's bag containing a quantity of drugs was stolen from a car in the St. Joseph's Hospital parking lot overnight Wednesday, city police said yesterday.

Dr. Vincent Smith, 237 King George Terrace, told police the bag contained small quantities of petidine, morphine, tinal and some 292 tablets.

Still in Infancy

New Pulp Union Making Mark in B.C.

DUNCAN—Although still in its infancy, the Pulp and Paper Workers' Union of Canada, formally established in January, already has established a position of its own in the province's labor movement.

The new union held its first convention recently at Vancouver at the same time as the B.C. Federation of Labor.

The BCFL does not recognize the national union.

"We did not attend the BCFL convention," said Pulp and Paper Workers' president Bill Cox, "but we know that only one of the international brotherhoods represented there,

The International Woodworkers of America, included our union in one of their resolutions."

The B.C. Federation of Labor is affiliated with the Canadian Labor Congress, and Mr. Cox said, "unless this group will become a national body, or will recognize national unions, we don't want to be a part of it."

The Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada became certified last June, and it now consists of five locals throughout the province with a total of 1,700 men, who belonged before to the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper-mill workers.

Mr. Cox said there is a good possibility that a new local will be formed in Ontario as well.

The former members of the international brotherhood broke away as they felt their union business was managed to undemocratically from the New York headquarters.

The new union will have representatives from the different locals on the executive board, which was not the case under the international brotherhood.

The five B.C. locals consist of Local 1, Castlegar; Local 2, Crofton; Local 3, Woodfibre; Local 4, Prince Rupert; and Local 5, Vancouver-New Westminster.

The present slate of officers includes: William Cox of the Crofton local, president; Evan Moore, Castlegar, vice-president, and Pat O'Brien, Crofton, secretary-treasurer.

New officers will be elected by referendum ballot Dec. 4, 5 and 6. Mr. Cox said he would not seek re-election.

He said attempts have been made by the international brotherhood, and the Canadian Labor Congress to split and to damage the image of the new national union, particularly in the Vancouver-New Westminster area where the international brotherhood still has a foothold, and Mr. Cox is highly critical of intrigue and foul play in some of the international unions.

Referring to the first convention of his union, Mr. Cox said the representatives from the different locals were concerned about the two boiler explosions at Woodfibre and Campbell River, which claimed seven lives and injured at least eight workers.

He said although widely publicized, one of the factors did not appear in the press coverage—the fact that a very high percentage of recovery boilers experience major difficulties.

Mr. Cox said: "In British Columbia there are 13 recovery boilers operating, and four have had explosions, at least severe enough to interrupt production."

New union representatives felt the high academic standard of certified operating personnel is of little value unless proper importance is placed on job training, which could be greatly improved.

The Workmen's Compensation Board also could play an important role in safer operation of recovery boilers by analyzing the need of the people in the industry and by keeping people informed of their actions and findings.

Mr. Cox termed the Woodfibre disaster fund as "a credit to the residents of Woodfibre but also a gross exhibition of social shame and injustice."

He suggested, "surely the Workmen's Compensation Board should feel obligated to improve the equitable distribution of our wealth as the dependents of the killed workers can rightfully be referred to as victims of an industrial accident."
